Saturday night's the night

THERE'S just over 24 hours until the start of the industry's night of nights for 2010 - the National Travel Industry Awards.

The culmination of a process which has been underway for months, tomorrow will see the announcement of the winners of the hotly contested awards for 2010 - with massive interest in the event indicated by the sellout of the huge ballroom at the Westin Sydney Hotel.

"We're at absolute capacity," AFTA ceo Jayson Westbury told TD earlier this week.

"The ballroom has never held this many tables before," he added, with the 950 places at the dinner sold out weeks ago.

The NTIA dinner will for the first time this year be hosted by TV personality Jules Lund, and in another first there will be an 'AFTA' party, also in the Westin, which will allow guests to continue on into the small hours.

World Cup tipping

DON'T forget to get your tips in for our FIFA World Cup tipping competition, with the tournament reaching its conclusion this weekend.

The top tipper for the semi-final round was Phil Gennaoui of Singapore Airlines, who picked a perfect round and won two bottles of wine courtesy of Compass Car Rental.

Tips for the grand final round must be in by midnight tomorrow night, with just one point separating the top four tipsters.

The after-party will also enable those who wish to continue networking in the main ballroom to do so without the background of noisy dance music.

Fabulous door prizes are also on offer for attendees and generous sponsors have provided entertainment, wine and a few other special surprises.

Travel Daily, as official media sponsor of the event in conjunction with travelBulletin, will be there, so make sure you see Monday's issue for a full wrap-up of the industry's night.

SOO winner

CONGRATULATIONS to Robert Kirk of Harvey World Travel in Chatswood, NSW who was the lucky winner of our exclusive State of Origin rugby league comp.

Out of hundreds of entries received in the comp, Robert's predictions over the three games were the most correct, and he's won two nights accommodation including buffet breakfast for two at a VIBE hotel of his choice across Australia.

Travellers Choice change

INDEPENDENT agency group Travellers Choice is positioning itself for further growth by announcing a restructure of responsibilities in its existing staff.

The change will see Christian Hunter appointed to the newly created role of General Manager - a promotion from his previous position in charge of finance administration.

The group said the move would see md Gary Allomes "focus on further expanding Travellers Choice's growing national network and leading preferred supplier negotiations."

The new structure would

CA adds PEK/MEL

AIR China is expected to shortly announce a new nonstop service linking Beijing-Melbourne, with the new route loaded into travel agent GDSs, effective 05 Dec.

The new route is part of an expansion of CA's routes, which will also see daily flights between Beijing and Sydney (from 4 weekly), and a fifth weekly service from Shanghai to MEL, effective 31 Oct.

New Club Med gm

CLUB Med has named Quentin Braird as its new general manager, Australia/NZ, taking over from Heidi Kunkel who was promoted to GM Japan/Korea in early 2010.

provide a solid platform for Travellers Choice's future growth, Allomes said.

"There is no doubt that major changes within the Australian retail sector are continuing to create opportunities for member recruitment," he said.

Hunter will be responsible for driving member services and preferred supplier sales, in addition to his previous portfolio.

The restructure has also seen Robyn Mitchell named to another newly created role - Marketing Manager - moving from her previous position as manager marketing services for the group.

Allomes claimed that one of the key reasons agents are attracted to Travellers Choice is the "experience, dedication and long-term stability of our senior management team."

"This new structure will ensure we continue to offer an unrivalled level of support to new and existing members," he said.

QFLink EMD lounge

QANTASLINK has announced the construction of a new Regional Lounge at Emerald Airport QLD, to open by the end of the year.

Exec gm Narendra Kumar said Emerald was an important Central Queensland market for the carrier, which was "playing our part by delivering state-of-the-art facilities to cater for increased passenger traffic".

QM2 Aus circumnav

CUNARD will offer staterooms priced from $5,479ppts on Queen Mary 2's Royal Circumnavigation of Australia voyage in Feb, when the cruise goes on sale next week.

Established agency operating from three locations requires a bookkeeper.

Located on Lower North Shore, but with some travel to other locations required.

Attractive salary for someone with good experience.

Window Seat

IF you visit Taiwan, steer clear of the fast food joints.

Dentists have warned takeaway chains to drop oversized hamburgers from their menus, after a spate of jaw injury cases.

The China Post said patients had developed very sore jaws or had difficulty opening their mouths after eating the giant burgers, with the critical point apparently reached when the burgers are bigger than 8cm high.

A NEW hotel in northern Yemen will be ready to welcome a flood of foreign guests - just as soon as the local civil war ends.

The two-star Jaseera Plaza in Saada was developed by tourism entrepreneur Sultan Amin, with the building taking 3 years.

"We had to stop every time the war was renewed. But two weeks ago we finally finished," he told news service Reuters.

"We don't expect foreigners to visit now, but I think that if the situation stays stable, maybe they will come".

Shi'ite rebels recently agreed to a shaky truce with the Yemeni government in a conflict which has been ongoing in the Middle Eastern country since 2004.

THE FIFA World Cup finals are being billed as a showdown between the three major global airline alliances.

Skyteam member KLM has this week scrambled to add capacity to South Africa, after the Netherlands reached the final.

Its partner, Air France, already operates daily A380s between Paris and Johannesburg.

The Dutch team will play Spain, with Spanish flag carrier Iberia - a member of the oneworld alliance - bringing extra fans from Spain.

And Germany will play off for third place against Uruguay.

Star Alliance founding member Lufthansa brought the German team to South Africa on its new A380 flagship - but it's not clear whether they will go back on the superjumbo, with a return A380 flight promised if they had won.

Walshe marks a decade in OZ

ABOVE: The Walshe Group celebrated the 10 year milestone of Southern Travel Holdings' ceo, Jacqui Walshe, at the firm's helm in Sydney last night, with industry colleague, clients and friends.

Walshe was praised for her work in the company, contributing to its strengths and making it into one of Australia's leading GSA's.

dedication the Walshe Group has for SAA, and admitting "it is largely due to Jacqui's leadership and commitment that the route has grown to having daily flights to South Africa from both Sydney and Perth."

CTC specialists

THE Canadian Tourism Commission has launched a new web-based version of its 'Canada Specialist Program' for travel agents around the globe.

The online program has eight modules covering the various provinces of Canada as well as different types of Canadian experiences, and participants must pass a quiz on each module to progress, scoring 80% or more.

Agents and operators who complete the program will be granted full access to the site's tourism tools and resources - including e-postcards into which they can insert their own business details and send to clients.

Qualified participants also gain access to take part in familiarisation tools, and their contact information will be included in CTC's relevant consumer websites.

The new program is initially rolling out in Australia, the UK, US and India, with expansion to other markets including Germany, China, Brazil, France, Mexico, Japan and South Korea this year.

PacificFlier blocked

PACIFICFLIER has been knocked back by the US Dept of Transport in its request to speed up the answer period required to grant authority for a third weekly service between Koror, Palau and Guam, as flagged by Travel Daily on Wed.

The DoT has told PI that every applicant seeking exemption authority would like to shorten the applicable answer period, and that the carrier "has not alleged any basis for expediting answers to its application", thereby denying the motion.

"PacificFlier submitted its motion on the eve of the long Independence Day holiday weekend, with no explanation why it did not seek scheduled service authority months ago when its original application was pending and it had the opportunity to do so.

"Since Continental Micronesia's lawyers will be out of the country or traveling within the US between now and July 9, a shortened answer period would unfairly disadvantage Continental Micronesia." the authority said.

ANA keg onboard

ALL Nippon Airways will be the first carrier in the world to begin offering passengers draft beer, direct from an onboard keg, on domestic routes from 20 Jul.

There will only be 20 cups of beer per keg available on flights, priced at 1000 Yen per cup (A$13).

The beverage will be available on seven routes initially, including Tokyo Haneda to Fukuoka, Sapporo Chitose and Okinawa.

Kokoda Track pact

THE governments of Australia and Papua New Guinea yesterday signed a Second Joint Understanding to support ongoing sustainable tourism development in the Kokoda Track region.

The pact covers the period 2010-2015 and agrees on five key goals including building national and international tourism potential of the Owen Stanley Ranges and Kokoda Track areas, supported by a possible future World Heritage nomination.

Other goals include keeping the track safe and well-managed while honouring its wartime historical significance, as well as enhancing the quality of life for local landowners and communities through improved delivery of basic services and community development.

etm celebrates milestone

ABOVE: The etm Group this week celebrated its 9th birthday, with a '9' themed lunch.

Leon Burman, etm director said the company is continuing to grow "despite encountering the most extraordinary hurdles in the travel industry our travel and events departments continue to be on a solid growth path."

Cooks direct loads

COOK Island Tourism Corporation says loads for Air New Zealand's new direct service between Sydney and Rarotonga have been well supported, with the inaugural flight on Sun at 100% capacity.

Wayne Borland, director of Strategic Development, told TD that loads for the rest of Jul were sitting at around 50%, and that a raft of advertising will be used to promote the service for Aug.

MAS Eclipses Flighties

LAST night Malaysia Airlines and Malaysia Tourism took over Sydney's George St Cinema's and filled them with 'Flighties' for an annual product update session, followed by a screening of the new Twilight film.

Treated to popcorn, drinks and choc tops, over 100 Flight Centre agents from across NSW listened eagerly as Malaysia Air unveiled exclusive product info, including receiving the green light to de-link its Melbourne stopover on the Sydney-Kuala Lumpur route (TD 10 Jun), effective 15 Nov.

This de-linking will mean that from Nov the carrier will be able to offer two direct services, five times weekly, between SYD-KUL.

MH also advised agents that effective immediately its Malaysia Airlines Agency Desk is available for any queries regarding fares and ticketing on 1300 655 324.

Tourism Malaysia revealed that the Double Tree in Kuala Lumpur will now not open until Aug (pushed back from Jul), while the new eco-friendly Golden Palm Tree Sea Villas and Resort Spa has officially been opened.

Following the update, agents settled in for a screening of Eclipse, the third movie in the Twilight franchise.
