Qantas, Disney to partner

AUSTRALIA is the number one international market for Disney outside of North America, and the theme park and entertainment giant is keen to continue to grow the valuable Aussie market.

Speaking to TD overnight in Disneyland, California, Disney's travel business development Director Lee Siefken said travel agents remain an integral part of the company's strategy, which aims to increase Australian visitor numbers by 10% year-on-year.

She said Disney would shortly launch a major incentive campaign in partnership with Qantas, giving agents the opportunity to win a spot on a special Disney famil.

"The hope is that the incentive campaign will become an annual event, with each year a unique Disney experience as part of the prize," Siefken said.

The partnership also extends to a major consumer promotion, in which Qantas will run a competition targeting its huge database of frequent flyers.

A family holiday for six to Disneyland will be up for grabs, with a range of options to enter as part of the major cross promotion between QF & Disney.

The call to action for the campaign will be to contact your travel agent for more information on Disney, Siefken said.

Disney is currently running a series of "Disney Days" training workshops to keep agents informed on the latest developments in the portfolio.

NZ imposes border levy

AIRFARES to New Zealand are expected to rise following the NZ Government introducing a border levy as part of its 2015/16 budget, which was delivered last night.

Expected to take effect from the beginning of next year, the Border Clearance Levy will be around $16 for pax arriving from overseas and $6 for those departing, raising an estimated NZ$100 million a year to meet border costs in full.

Both NZ citizens and foreign visitors will be hit with the levy.

NZ Minister for Finance Bill English outlined the new charge in his budget speech, saying the move is aimed at funding passenger-related biosecurity and customs activities at the border.

Currently, the cost of these activities are met by taxpayers.

"The Government considers it fairer for the cost to fall on travellers, as happens in many other countries. A per-passenger levy also helps ensure that border services are funded to meet future demand," English said.

Auckland Airport expressed its disappointment with the new levy, saying it "could impact New Zealand's competitiveness as a tourist destination, especially for those who are price sensitive".

"It is regrettable that the implementation of this new tax happens at a time when the tourism industry is starting to experience solid growth, following many years of average performance," AKL Airport said.

The Treasurer announced a $25 million spend on more detector dogs and X-Ray machines, as well as $33m over four years for more immigration staff "at a time of record-breaking visitor numbers".

Lindeman plots six-star resort

DETAILS of an integrated resort with five separate precincts to be built on Queensland's Lindeman Island have been released by White Horse Australia Lindeman Pty Ltd, the organisation behind the island's redevelopment.

'Coordinated Project' status has been obtained from the Qld Govt for a proposal to reinvigorate the island, which was acquired from Club Med after being near-destroyed by Cyclone Yasi in 2012.

White Horse Australia Lindeman will spend $600 million on the project, which will feature a range of five and six-star facilities.

The Chinese-backed company will build a six-star spa resort, a five-star eco resort & 335 suites and villas across five precincts.

Accommodations will sit clear a central village, to offer shops, restaurants, bars, spa facilities, a services infrastructure precinct, four hole golf course and separate lodgings for staff.

In addition, a 50-berth marina will be built alongside an upgraded private airstrip..

White Horse said it will also initiate a coral planting program, vegetation replanting and open a Barrier Reef educational centre.

Qld State Development Minister Anthony Lynham said the resort will maintain 300 ongoing jobs once fully operational, and that it was the state's "first coordinated project in 18 months".

Aussie UK spending spree

AUSTRALIA has maintained its status as Britain's fourth most valuable in 2014 in terms of visitor spend, the UK's latest Int'l Passenger Survey data indicates.

Official figures released by VisitBritain yesterday show Australian travellers spent £1.224 billion (A$2.32bn) in Britain last year, up 3% on 2013.

Aussie visitor nights increased by 1% to 15 million - both spend and nights were new records.

In the past five years, Australian visits have grown 15.9%, visitor spend has increased 43% and visitor nights jumped 12.7%.

VisitBritain ceo Sally Balcombe said growth was expected to continue into 2015.

"The marketplace for global tourism is getting tougher, but the Government's 'GREAT' campaign and VisitBritain's successful global marketing activity has meant that tourism is increasingly becoming an essential part of the wider success of our economy," she said.

Marketing manager Australia Mark Haynes highlighted other key events taking place in coming months which will likely help sustain the number of Aussie travellers visiting the UK.

The Rugby World Cup in Sep & Oct and a number of literacy anniversaries will encourage more Aussies to visit regional parts to the UK, Haynes said.

Accor NRL grand deal

ACCOR has re-signed as official hotel partner with the National Rugby League for 3 more years.

The partnership will see execs from the Australian Rugby League Commission and NRL, as well as all 16 NRL clubs, accommodated at Accor hotels across Australia and New Zealand.

Through the deal, Accor will hold the status of preferred hotel accommodation provider.

CMV Australia recruit

CRUISE & Maritime Voyages Australia has named Ann Hope as its business development manager for WA/SA & New Zealand.

Hope's past experience includes four years with Silversea Cruises.

#BoycottBali fizzer

THE #BoycottBali social media blitz aimed at deterring travel to the Indonesian tourist mecca following the executions of convicted drug smugglers Andrew Chan and Myuran Sukumaran appears to have had little impact, based on new visitor data.

According to Bali Government Tourism Office visitor figures out this week for the month of Apr, the number of Australians travelling to Bali increased 4% to 75,854.

The result reflected the highest number of Aussies travelling to Bali in Apr on record.

While the growth rate has slowed, Aussie arrivals to Bali this year have surged by nearly 25%, surpassing 312,930 movements to the end of Apr.

Chinese visitor numbers to Bali have also spiked in 2015, jumping 19.2% to 50,690.

Across all markets, arrivals to Bali have risen to 1.26 million for the year ending Apr - up 13.3% on the same period in 2014.

Rendez-Vous 2015

OVER 1,500 travel industry professionals will come together in Niagara Falls next week for the Canadian Tourism Commission's 39th annual Rendez-Vous Canada tradeshow, run from 26-29 May.

International buyers will hold one-on-one appointments with some 920 Canadian sellers of tourism products & experiences.

See TD next week for coverage.

QF Prem Econ bids

QANTAS passengers can now bid for upgrades from Economy to Premium Economy class, should they be unsuccessful with their Bid Now Upgrades to Business.

However Premium Economy can not be the sole Bid Now Upgrade.

Window Seat

THE ever-evolving Disneyland is certainly moving with the times.

With thousands of social media-savvy guests expected to help celebrate the 60th anniversary of Disneyland Resort (including TD) there's a notable addition to the signage around many of the rides.

THE Australian group in California for the Disneyland 60th celebrations this week are definitely getting into the Mickey Mouse spirit.

The Aussie wholesalers and media are being hosted by Disney's Lee Siefken and Tory Martin, who were spotted last night complete with special "Diamond" mouse ears (below) - sure to be collectors items.

Hōkūleʻa sails into Sydney

HAWAIIAN Airlines and Hawaii Tourism Oceania welcomed the Polynesian Voyaging Society and its Hōkūleʻa into Sydney this week as part of a maiden global sailing.

The vessel is travelling 47,000 nautical miles around the world over four years with the aim of raising awareness of creating a healthy and sustainable planet.

Hōkūleʻa casts back to the times of ocean travel without technological assistance.

It is moving around the world navigating using the stars, ocean currents and weather patterns, solely powered by the wind.

The global circumnavigation is also in honour of the Polynesian Voyaging Society's 40th birthday.

A traditional smoking ceremony and cultural performance by the Society welcomed the vessel into Sydney's Darling Harbour.

Hōkūleʻa is on display at the Australian National Maritime Museum but only until tomorrow before it embarks on its next journey bound for Brisbane.

Qantas best on time

QANTAS reclaimed its place at the head of the class for on-time departures and arrivals during the month of Apr, according to the latest government figures.

Overall, 83.9% of flights pushed back on-time, with 82.2% arriving as scheduled, both slight improvements on Apr last year.

Departures for the Flying Kangaroo left as scheduled 87.9% of the time, with arrivals at 86%.

Virgin Australia, which held the lead for several months prior, fell to second with scores of 86.9% in departures and 84.8% for arrivals.

Among the major carriers, Jetstar fell to last place behind Tigerair, pipped by the VA low-cost carrier 78.9% to 77.9%.

Virgin Australia Regional Airlines was most punctual of the regional carriers with 83.6%, followed by Regional Express and QantasLink.

QFLink cancelled the most flights at 2.5%, followed by VA Regional and Jetstar.

Port Hedland to Perth was the most reliable individual service in Apr, with 96% of flights on-time.

At the other end of the scale, nearly one in every two flights between Port Macquarie and Sydney departed behind schedule.

WA budgets for parks

LOW-COST camping & caravan facilities will be built in Western Australia's national parks, with $6.25 million in funding for the program in the WA state budget.

The allocation is part of the state's Royalties for Regions program, a $21.05 million scheme rolling out over four years.

Works will include upgrades to campgrounds, mountain biking tracks, new information apps for smartphones and websites and a new campground booking system.

A further $1.2 million has been allocated from the budget also for bridge upgrades in the Torndirrup National Park in Albany

Canada plays at China

CHINESE travellers will be able to fly to and transit within Canada visa-free from 01 Jun under an expanded China Transit Program announced this week.

The reinvigorated program applies to passengers enroute to or from the United States and couples with an existing ten-year visa agreement with China (TD 10 Mar).

Tech critical for work

FLEXIBLE access to data and the ability to work anywhere head a list of critical requirements for doing business by over 100 travel agents surveyed by Sabre Pacific.

The poll found that technology was critical to their success, with two thirds of respondents saying they need to access files daily.

Only one third said they had access to a cloud solution, with many saying they were unsure about how to set this up.

A Cisco poll found by 2017, 63% of workloads will be cloud based.

Sabre Pacific managing director Jeremy van de Klundert said the ability to access content remotely on any device in a "virtualised, cloud environment is the next big thing Sabre's customers will need to stay ahead of competition".

Dynamic Dubai desert dress-ups

AFTER five fun-packed days in Dubai, experiencing family-friendly activities and attractions, culinary delights and traditional eateries, historical and cultural city tours, the buzz of the old town souks, endless shopping at the modern malls, waterparks and more, it seemed only fitting to end the 2015 Emirates and Dubai Tourism Ultimate Famil on a high in the desert.

So on their final day in Dubai, the 300 agents enjoyed a classic desert safari experience with a difference. Hosted by Arabian Adventures, the group was driven by 4x4 across the dunes to enjoy a private falconry display before watching the sunset over the dunes.

They then headed to their exclusive Bedouin style camp, where they were met by Emirates and Dubai Tourism staff in traditional Arabian dress (left), alongside Emirati Ayallah dancers.

After enjoying a three-course Arabian dinner, they wound up their trip with some belly dancing, Tanoura dancing, shisha smoking and henna painting, before heading back to the city for bed.

"The 2015 Ultimate Emirates Dubai Famil was a huge success...each year we bring up to 300 Australian and New Zealand agents to Dubai in partnership with Emirates to showcase the diversity of Dubai and allow the agents to experience first hand the variety of all that Dubai has to offer and why it is much more than a two day stop-over destination.

"With so many existing attractions and experiences as well as new developments opening from 2016, Dubai can offer a completely new holiday experience on each visit...and the agents have all had fun experiencing it.

"We are already planning how to make next year's Ultimate Emirates Dubai Famil even bigger and better," said Julie King, Director Asia Pacific, Dubai Tourism.

To view more images from this year's Ultimate Famil, view the hashtag #ultimatedubaifamil on Twitter and Instagram.

TA stoked at Aus growth

TOURISM Australia managing director John O'Sullivan has levelled praise at the tourism industry for contributing to a full-year arrivals tally of 6,868,000.

Figures released this morning from the Australian Bureau of Statistics show the growth rate of inbound visitors for the full year was 7.6%, compared to 2013.

O'Sullivan said Australia had to go back a decade to see int'l arrivals growing at this rate.

"It's a remarkable performance, especially in the face of such fierce competition from up to 190 other destinations all vying for a slice of the global tourism pie."

For the month of Dec, Australia welcomed nearly 590,000 visitors on a short-term trend basis, itself a 6.1% jump on the year prior.

China and the USA recorded double-digit year-on-year arrivals growth to close the year, with Germany and South Korea also performing strongly.

For departures, Indonesia and the Philippines led the way with 10.1% and 13.9% improvements respectively, while India and the USA both remained popular.

O'Sullivan expressed cautious optimism however, saying there was still a lot of hard work to be done if it was to hit its Tourism 2020 targets and now "certainly isn't the time to look back".

"Our focus is very much about the future," O'Sullivan added.

He said Tourism Australia was already planning its next major marketing assault, which would "shine a light" on Australia's coastal and aquatic experiences".

In Mar, TA announced a tie-up with David Attenborough, which will see the English broadcaster and naturalist produce a doco on the Great Barrier Reef.
