Solomon Air resume flts

SOLOMON Airlines has this afternoon confirmed it will resume full operation tomorrow, having grounded its domestic and international services on Tue following a squabble with the Solomon Islands Government.

As reported yesterday by Travel Daily, the suspension impacted IE's services between Brisbane & Honiara, as well as flights to/from Nadi, Port Vila and all domestic services in the Solomon Islands.

CEO Captain Sumsum told codeshare partners and other international carriers operating to Henderson International Airport that the decision to halt services was "due to a dispute with the Solomon Islands' Government" and "had not been taken lightly".

"This decision also affects services operated by us to our codeshare partners and services provided to all other airlines in our capacity as ground handling agents," Captain Sumsum said.

However this afternoon the carrier reversed its decision, with IE's first int'l flight (codesharing with Qantas) due to operate from Honiara to Brisbane tonight, ahead of a full reinstatement of domestic and int'l flights on Thu.

Sumsum apologised for the "inconvenience", which saw only one international flight halted.

A Qantas spokesperson told TD that passengers impacted by the change will be reaccommodated on flights later this week.

Last night, Qantas' customer service team began contacting pax to notify them of the change.

MEANWHILE, TD wishes to clarify the suspension of Solomon Airlines' services was not due to bad weather (TD yesterday).

QF BNE premium lounge

CONSTRUCTION of a combined Qantas First and Business class lounge at Brisbane Int'l Airport is set to begin in coming weeks.

The new Brisbane International Premium Lounge is expected to welcome guests from Oct and will incorporate the same design and service philosophy used at Qantas' acclaimed lounges in Hong Kong and Singapore.

The multimillion dollar project will see QF morph the existing Brisbane International First and Business Lounges, creating a single space and providing an increase of more than 25% in capacity.

Themed on the natural beauty of Queensland, the facility will offer seasonal menus by Qantas chef Neil Perry, a bar serving Rockpool-designed cocktails and all-day barista coffee by Vittoria.

QF head of customer product and service development Philip Capps said the lounge would deliver a new benchmark in premium travel from the Queensland capital.

"The new lounges will offer an outstanding experience in premium design, service, and food and wine," Capps said.

Effective 29 Jun, eligible Qantas customers of the International First & Business Lounges will be offered free access to Brisbane's Plaza Premium Lounge or vouchers to redeem at food outlets in the terminal, QF said.

TRS rejig welcomed

THE Tourism Shopping Reform Group says a streamlined claiming process for the Tourist Refund Scheme (TRS) pitched by Labor is a step in the right direction.

Co-chair of the TSRG Margo Osmond said the mooted review if implemented "will have a direct positive impact on the efficiency of our international airports and move Australia's TRS to world's best practice".

Qatar Air to Vegas

ONEWORLD Gulf carrier Qatar Airways will begin flights to Las Vegas from Jan 2017, ceo Akbar Al Baker has announced.

A specific launch date is yet to be advised, but Al Baker stated QR will use Boeing 777-300ERs on the DOH/LAS service.

South Africa reacts

THE South African Ministry of State Security has moved to ease concerns raised by the US Govt about potential terrorist attacks on Americans in the country.

On Sat, the United States Govt said it had received information that attacks were planned to be carried out in locations where US citizens congregate, in locations such as malls in Johannesburg and Cape Town.

Yesterday, South Africa said security forces have liaised with the US on their concerns.

"We remain a strong and stable democratic country and there is no immediate danger posed by the alert," said State Security Minister David Mahlobo.

EK upgauges AKL

EMIRATES is upgauging capacity on its nonstop Auckland route, with GDS displays showing the airline will switch operations from Boeing 777-200LRs to Airbus A380s, effective 30 Oct.

The Dubai-based carrier began the direct service in Mar.

EK will utilise triple-class double decker jets on the service, making it the world's longest A380 route.

Expedia direct comms tool

EXPEDIA has unveiled a new communication tool which connects Australian hoteliers directly with booked guests via a message centre.

Named EPC Conversations, the tool is accessible through Expedia PartnerCentral and allows for guests to start a conversation by asking a question or submitting a special request at the time of booking.

"Hoteliers have requested the ability to communicate directly with guests who have made a booking across Expedia Group websites," commented Drew Bowering, director of market management Australia, for Expedia.

"EPC Conversations was developed to answer this need, allowing both the guest and the hotelier to interact with each other, to engage from the moment the reservation is made and create memorable hotel experiences."

The new tool promises to help hoteliers set custom welcome messages, improve guest experiences by sharing check-in details when rooms are ready, confirm and manage special guests, as well as provide information about the property's services and amenities.

Japanese visitors up

ALMOST 50% more Japanese visitors headed to Australia in Apr and almost a third more Chinese visitors, according to the latest figures from the ABS

Apr marked the fourth consecutive month of double digit growth in international visitor arrivals, with a 10.6% increase.

For the year ending Apr 2016, total int'l arrivals reached 7.7 million, up 9.1% and accounting for an additional 644,000 visitors.

QF c'share to Santo

AIR Vanuatu has welcomed the resumption of the Qantas codeshare on flights between Santo and Brisbane (TD Fri).

The QF codeshare on flights NF20/21 will be operated by Air Vanuatu using a Boeing 737.

"We are delighted to continue our partnership with Qantas on the Brisbane-Santo-Brisbane route and welcome the strong marketing arm of Australia's national carrier back to Vanuatu," NF chief executive officer Joseph Laloyer said earlier this week.

EU air traffic talks tick

VX transfer authority

ALASKA Airlines has sought approval from US regulators to transfer the international route authorities of Virgin America to AS' parent firm, Alaska Air Group.

The move comes after the proposed sale of VX to Alaska Air Group (TD 05 Apr), which the parties say will make them more competitive against the 'Big Four' US airlines (American Airlines, Delta Air Lines, United Airlines and Southwest Airlines).

Virgin America only operates four international routes out of mainland USA, from San Francisco to Cancun and Los Cabos and from Los Angeles to Cancun and Puerto Vallarta.

Belmond Latin train

SOUTH America's first luxury sleeper train, Belmond Andean Explorer in Peru is expected to make its debut in May 2017.

The train will traverse the Peruvian Andes from Cusco to Lake Titicaca and Arequipa and will offer four journeys.

Belmond Andean Explorer will accommodate 68 guests in en-suite cabins including two double cabins, 20 twin cabins and 12 bunk bed cabins for two people.

Journeys range from the one-day Spirit of the Andes: Puno to Cusco to the three-day Cusco-Lake Titicaca-Arequipa City.
