Qantas reviews HKG

QANTAS has announced a tariff review affecting Premium Economy and Business class fares from Australia to Hong Kong.

QF fares will increase for Premium Economy, while Qantas D Class tickets will also increase but there will be no changes to I, C or J class bookings.

In order to ticket under the current international fare structure, bookings must be ticketed by this Wed 14 Sep, with all bookings not yet ticketed on 15 Sep to be reassessed under the new arrangements.

MEANWHILE, Qantas will also celebrate the Mid-Autumn Festival this week by serving traditional mooncakes to customers in Economy, Premium Economy and Business class on flights from Shanghai, Hong Kong and Singapore to Australia.

Crystal set for AU/NZ push

CRYSTAL Cruises ceo Edie Rodriguez is "extremely bullish" about the local prospects for the company's burgeoning portfolio, with Crystal's planned new Australian office to cover the full portfolio of ocean, river and yacht cruises as well as on board residences and luxury air tours.

Rodriguez told TD the new operation, to be headed up by Karen Christensen (TD 01 Jul), would have about 13 staff but would have room for expansion to 25, marketing Crystal as the "world's most luxurious lifestyle and hospitality brand portfolio".

TG A350 MEL delay

THAI Airways International today advised that a 22 Sep launch event for its new A350 flights to Melbourne has been postponed "due to circumstances beyond our control".

The debut of the new aircraft on the Australian route has been delayed until late Oct, with regulatory issues understood to be behind the postponement.

TG plans to operate both daily MEL-BKK flights using the A350.

She said Genting Hong Kong, Crystal's "extremely supportive" owner, was continuing to invest heavily in the business, having already purchased four shipyards to help Crystal control its destiny.

Crystal also owns aircraft which will operate Crystal Air Cruises, is building six new European river ships which are "off the charts" in terms of luxury, and also has ocean and yachting vessels currently under development.

Rodriguez and Christensen paid tribute to long-time Crystal gsa Wiltrans International, which has looked after the Crystal brand in Australia for its full 26 year history and continues its representation through to 31 Dec.

PG supports QF PNG plan

AIR Niugini has made a submission to the International Air Services Commission strongly supporting QF's application to allow codesharing on the Papua New Guinea route (TD 29 Aug).

Last week the IASC advised it would assess the application against the "public benefit criteria of the relevant ministerial policy statement," (TD 05 Sep) after Virgin Australia and the ACCC indicated their intention to make a submission on the matter.

The Air Niugini response says there are "strong grounds for the IASC to grant the variation," including competition, tourism, consumer and trade benefits.

QF's unilateral decision to pull out of the Port Moresby-Cairns route, operate daily 737-800 flights between Port Moresby and Brisbane and terminate existing codeshares on the Sydney-Port Moresby route would leave just one marketing carrier on each route, Air Niugini said.

The proposed free sale codeshare would see each airline independently set prices, fare classes and rules, PG added.

Without the codesharing, Air Niugini warned it may be forced to withdraw from the Sydney route and review the ongoing sustainability of its Cairns flights.

Moreover, "in the medium to long term Air Niugini would be likely forced to substantially withdraw from operating wide body aircraft" on the Brisbane route, the carrier said.

Virgin Australia has confirmed its intention to make a submission while the IASC website also lists input from Michael Murphy, a frequent traveller between Australia and PNG who said the proposed cessation of QF flights between Cairns and Port Moresby would leave Air Niugini as the only carrier on the route.

"Approval of the proposed code share arrangement is desirable for this route as it will result in a choice of either Air Niugini or Qantas ticketing and provide some incentive for price competitiveness," he wrote.

AA adds in Europe

AMERICAN Airlines has opened reservations for several new international routes including Chicago-Barcelona, Dallas Fort Worth-Amsterdam and Dallas Fort Worth-Rome from May 2017.

AA is also canning several other European routes including Chicago-Dusseldorf, New York-Birmingham, Philadelphia-Brussels and Philadelphia-Zurich.

CZ partners with Tourism WA

CHINA Southern Airlines together with Tourism WA and Tourism Australia will invest more than $1 million in a new campaign to promote Western Australia to Chinese travellers.

The move was announced last week at the Corroboree Asia tourism trade show in Perth, with Tourism WA acting ceo Gwyn Dolphin saying the deal would support CZ's direct flights between Guangzhou and Perth.

"Utilising existing memoranda of understanding, the promotions will focus on key areas of China and target individual, family and small group travellers," he said.

FIT and premium travellers will be particularly targeted "with the aim of encouraging more visitation, longer stays and regional dispersment in WA".

He said in the year to 30 Jun WA welcomed 47,800 Chinese visitors who spent $244m in the state.

"Our partnership with China Southern Airlines has been critical in helping us achieve incredible growth in the Chinese visitor market since the first direct flight four years ago," he said.

Corroboree Asia hosted more than 300 consultants from China, Taiwan, Japan, South Korea, India, Malaysia, Indonesia, Singapore and other Asian markets, who updated their Australian product knowledge via 'speed dating' appointments and pre/post familiarisation experiences.

Viking tragedy

TWO crew members aboard a Viking River Cruises vessel in Europe have been killed after Viking Freya struck a bridge in Erlangen, Germany overnight.

The retractable wheelhouse was completely destroyed in the incident which is understood to have occurred at about 1.30am, shortly after the ship departed Erlangen en route to Budapest.

There were 181 passengers and 47 crew on board, with all pax transported to local hotels before being offered the opportunity to continue their trip with a modified itinerary on the Bestla in Passau, Germany, or they may return home.

Viking said customer relations reps will be in touch with all guests to discuss compensation.

StayWell expansion

AUSSIE-OWNED StayWell Hospitality Group has partnered with UK company Fiveways Hospitality to grow its Park Regis and Leisure Inn brands within the UK market.

Simon Wan, StayWell Hospitality Group ceo said the agreement will help to secure an additional four hotels in the region within the next 48 months.

"The United Kingdom & Europe as a whole, presents a great opportunity for our Park Regis and Leisure Inn brands, especially after the successful opening of Park Regis Birmingham in Mar 2016," Wan said.

Muriel's Wedding Syd

SYDNEY will host the world premiere of Muriel's Wedding the Musical on 6 Nov 2017.

The production is expected to generate more than $3 million in visitor expenditure for NSW.

Destination NSW ceo Sandra Chipchase said the win is a "major coup" for Sydney.

"It has global appeal and joins a stellar line-up of musicals premiering in NSW over the coming 18 months," she said.

The musical will run to 30 Dec.

Window Seat

LIBYAN airline Buraq Air has given free flights for life to a baby born on board one of its services last week.

The child's mother was en route from Tripoli to Niamey, the capital of Niger in Africa, when she went into labour.

The cabin crew helped deliver a "bouncing baby boy," and in recognition of their outstanding efforts, the baby was named after the aircraft's captain, Abdul Baset.

Coincidentally, the infant wasn't the first to be delivered in flight recently, with Filipino carrier Cebu Pacific also gifting one million GetGo loyalty points to a baby girl named 'Haven', born during a flight from Dubai to Manila last month.

Scotland tourism rise

TOURISM in Scotland has seen a surge of visitors this year, due in part to terrorist incidents in traditional holiday spots, and the Brexit result which saw the depreciation of the sterling, according to UK Inbound ceo Deirdre Wells.

Figures from VisitScotland showed an uptick of 27% in int'l visitors compared to the prior corresponding period, while tourism days were 30% higher than in the last 12 months.

WA whale season

VISITORS trialling Western Australia's swim with humpback whale tours at Ningaloo Reef are reporting higher-than-expected interaction rates.

"Humpback whale interaction tour operators working out of both Exmouth and Coral Bay have reported success rates for underwater interactions with humpbacks anywhere in the range of 25% to 90% - far higher than was initially expected," said Dani Rob from the Department of Parks and Wildlife.

"This is due to the humpback whales controlling the interactions," added Rob.
