Flight Centre, Airbnb pact

FLIGHT Centre and Airbnb today announced a new alliance (TD breaking news) which will see FCTG corporate clients offered Airbnb accommodation options.

The formal agreement follows a successful trial conducted by Flight Centre with one of its clients over the last few months, in which travellers rated the Airbnb experience 4.76 out of 5 stars, with an average daily rate of just $80.

Airbnb listings will be available to Campus Travel and Stage and Screen in the next few weeks, and will then roll out progressively to Corporate Traveller and FCM Travel Solutions.

Flight Centre executive gm of corporate travel, Andrew Flannery, said the deal would bolster the company's offering, providing interesting new options which would appeal to a section of the Flight Centre customer base.

"It will also benefit our corporate customers who are travelling to locations where there may currently be an under-supply of suitable hotel rooms," Flannery added.

Under the agreement Flight Centre consultants will have access to Airbnb's third party booking tool, while the travel manager and the employee taking the trip will be able to view details, make changes to the reservation and message the Airbnb host directly with questions about the listing or neighbourhood.

Airbnb estimates about 10% of its clients are travelling on business, with corporate bookings tripling during 2016.

EK SYD/DXB one-off

EMIRATES will offer an extra fourth service between Sydney & Dubai on Wed 12 Jul, with EK insisting it is "for one day only".

Flight EK2667 will be operated using a Boeing 777-200LR and will depart SYD at 2000, arriving into DXB at 0445 the next day.

Rex boosts Pt Lincoln

REGIONAL Express will boost services between Adelaide and Port Lincoln from 17 Jul, adding 7,000 seats per year to the route.

The new schedule will involve flights in the middle of the day on Mon, Wed, Thu and Fri, improving connecting flight options and making half-day visits to the regional centre possible.

The airline will offer up to eight flights from Adelaide to Port Lincoln each day, aboard Saab 340 turboprop aircraft.

Adelaide to host ATE '18

SOUTH Australia will host next year's Australian Tourism Exchange (ATE), bringing 2,500 industry delegates to Adelaide in an event worth around $10 million to the local economy.

The show will be staged in Apr at the city's newly redeveloped Adelaide Convention Centre, the third time the SA capital has hosted the event since 2006.

Announcing the choice of Adelaide as host city, Federal Minister for Trade, Tourism and Investment Steven Ciobo said buyers from more than 30 countries were expected to attend ATE in 2018.

"Collectively, the 700 international travel wholesalers and retailers who attend ATE bring close to three million visitors to our country each year with an estimated pre-booked spend between $5.5 and $8.5 billion, as well as their on-ground spend in Australia," Ciobo said.

"More than 550 Australian tourism businesses will have the chance to showcase their products and services directly to the agents who sell Australian holidays internationally during the more than 50,000 business appointments held at ATE."

SA Tourism Minister Leon Bignell said the event would provide an opportunity to showcase the state's food and wine regions.

"Securing the hosting rights for the 2018 ATE is a massive coup and will deliver a huge return for South Australia by putting the very best of what we have to offer in the tourism sector, in the international spotlight," he said.

AC's McLean to CNS

CAIRNS Airport has named Air Canada's gm Australia and New Zealand, Paul McLean, as its chief commercial officer - aviation, taking on the role in early Aug.

The position will see McLean responsible for growing airlines' services and passenger numbers to CNS, working with airlines and the tourism industry.

This month, McLean revealed he would be departing Air Canada after a 12-year tenure to seek a new "opportunities" (TD 14 Jun).

"After successfully achieving the objectives I set for myself with the Air Canada team I had been considering the next phase of my career for the past year, and I believe the opportunities and Cairns Airport's strategic direction are a great fit for me and I am confident we will achieve success as a team," McLean said.

Duty-free ciggies cut

THE Australian Government has asked airlines and cruise operators to update advice for travellers ahead of this week's cut to duty-free allowances for tobacco products.

From 01 Jul, the limit for duty-free tobacco will be reduced from 50g to 25g, in addition to one opened packet.

Travellers with additional amounts will have to pay duty on arrival, as part of measures announced in the 2016 Budget.

Trump ban revived

THE US Supreme Court has allowed limited implementation of Donald Trump's travel bans in the latest episode of the President's ongoing legal saga.

The court last night agreed to temporary bans on nationals from six Middle Eastern and North African nations until further hearings can be held in Oct.

However, it gave exemptions for travellers who could demonstrate a 'bona fide relationship' with a person or entity in the US, meaning family visits, business travellers and conference delegates may be unaffected.

The measures apply to nationals from Libya, Iran, Somalia, Sudan, Syria and Yemen.

Pre-travel GP roll out

COVER-MORE is now offering pre-travel doctor consultations as an extension of the insurer's Travel GP service.

The consultations are provided over the phone by an Australian doctor and involve a full medical assessment covering medical history, travel plans, destinations and timing.

A plan of care is then provided, including recommended immunisations and medical kit essentials, with any prescriptions issued ahead of travel.

The customer is also emailed a summary of their consultation, including emergency contact details and instructions for when they are overseas.

The service is available by appointment when customers purchase a Cover-More policy.

Since 2015, Cover-More's Travel GP service has offered 24-hour access to Australian doctors via video or phone.

BI rejigs Dubai fares

ROYAL Brunei Airlines has today advised agents that it has revised its booking classes on flights to Dubai, effective for sales and ticketing from 01 Jul.

The adjustment will see BI axe Economy class 'S' & 'Q' class fares in low and shoulder seasons, and the removal of 'Q' class Economy fares in high season.

There will also be an extension of existing Melbourne-Dubai beyond fares with partner airlines and the introduction of added destinations at "competitive prices" on through fares.

All existing BI bookings in 'S' & 'Q' class will need to be ticketed before midnight 30 Jun to avoid an increase in fare, or rebooked & requoted with the new levels.

Beyond this date, all bookings will need to be quoted and issued based on an updated fare sheet.

No waivers will be provided for any un-ticketed bookings, Royal Brunei Airlines said.

Round-world incentive

CONSTELLATION Journeys is offering travel agents a chance to join the company's first luxury round-world charter next year.

Three prizes of two seats are on offer for agents whose clients book on the inaugural by 25 Aug, with entrants required to explain in 25 words or less why they want to join the trip.

Departing 22 Apr, the 21-day tour is aboard a chartered Qantas Boeing 747 - for more details visit constellationjourneys.com.au

ONE of the burning questions asked of Si Group founder Tui Eruera is what's the significance of his company's brand name?

Turns out the moniker has an Italian influence, with Eruera explaining at Si Group's official launch last week that when he acquired the travel businesses from Mastercard late last year he was travelling in Europe.

After three days in Italy, the entrepreneur was still struggling with the language, and the only word he spoke confidently in the local tongue was 'yes', or 'si'.

When flying back to Australia toying with ideas for company names with his partner Rachel, the name Si Group was born.

"I like to think we are a 'yes' company and so it fits our business direction," he told TD.

APX online reporting

HELLOWORLD NZ corporate offshoot APX Travel Management has launched a new dynamic online reporting tool.

The new reporting dashboard allows users live access to their travel data online - rather than having to wait for monthly reports - giving "total visibility and greater control over their travel spend".

APX said the system offered the ability to drill down into data through interactive charts and tables, filtering and sorting across all spend categories.

APX head of partnerships, Garrick Loft, said the technology was a "game-changer" because it allowed customers to provide various levels of access to others within their organisation - meaning individual business units could take control of their own spend and compliance.

Stay in a Swiss Alpine Hut!

SWITZERLAND Tourism has unveiled the theme for its 2017 summer campaign for the next two years dubbed 'Nature wants you back' - CLICK HERE to view.

For the first time, visitors will have the opportunity to stay in traditional alpine huts that have been used as summer residences by local farmers.

"Most of these huts are simple & remain in their original form but have been made available as holiday chalets to encourage travellers to get away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life and reconnect with Mother Nature", director of Switzerland Tourism Australia & New Zealand, Mark Wettstein said.

Alpine Huts can be accessed via myswitzerland.com/alpinehuts & are available and commissionable to wholesalers and retailers when using a link to their own reservation platforms.

Over 250 self-contained mountain huts are listed on myswitzerland.com, starting from approximately $240 per week for a simple hut through to $4,000 per week for a luxurious, modern chalet that can accommodate up to 12 people.

The new campaign will also promote My Swiss Experience, an online tool that offers travellers over 700 local and unique experiences in Switzerland such as Witches in Zurich and Trekking with Goats day tours.

Wildlife Watching is another key theme with more than 100 day packages available where visitors get to learn and encounter the behaviours of local species such as ibexes, beavers and vultures in their natural habitats.

Speaking with Travel Daily, Wettstein said Switzerland had seen a 12% growth in overnight visitors from Australia in the 12 months through to Apr 2017, with 70% of travellers visiting between May and Oct.

Agents are also being reminded that there is less than a month to register and complete Switzerland Travel Academy's e-learning program (TD 25 May) for a chance to win a spot on its Sep famil plus other prizes.

Expedia Rev+ debuts

EXPEDIA yesterday formally launched its new Rev+ system in Australia, giving the online travel giant's hotel partners a new tool to manage their revenue.

Rev+ provides a "pricing calendar" for each property's competitive set providing market alerts and daily snapshots including forecasted demand and key upcoming events expected to boost occupancy - such as major concerts or sports matches.

Rev+ is provided free to Expedia's hotel partners.

MO into Melbourne

MANDARIN Oriental Hotel Group has announced its first property in Australia, with a mixed use hotel and residences to open in Melbourne's Collins Street in 2023.

The property will feature 196 guestrooms and suites along with a roof terrace bar, all-day restaurant and meeting spaces, while MO will also manage 148 "residences" located on the building's upper floors.

The 185m-tall tower project is being developed by Landream which also created the "ultra-luxury" Opera Residences at Sydney's Bennelong Point.

Tokatoka free wi-fi

WARWICK Hotels & Resorts will offer in-house guests of Tokatoka Resort in Nadi free wi-fi, effective 01 Jul, available in rooms and public spaces.

General manager Nasoni Tamani said wi-fi was an "essential part of a travellers' daily lives and is a basic expectation" for travellers.

IT IS but days till the end of the 2017 financial year and the official mid-point of the year. For those with an annual turnover of less than $10m a trip to JB-HiFi or Officeworks might be in order to take advantage of the asset write off scheme offered by the Federal Government.

If you buy an asset before 1 July 2017 and it costs less than $20,000, you can immediately deduct the business portion in your 2017 tax return. A car, a boat, a laptop, who knows. You are eligible to claim a deduction for the business portion of each asset (new or second hand) costing less than $20,000 if: you have a turnover less than $10 million (this has increased from $2 million), and the asset was first used or installed ready for use in the 2016-17 income year. Assets that cost $20,000 or more can't be immediately deducted. They will continue to be deducted over time – depreciated. Of course, remember to check with your accountant to ensure you are eligible, but with just three days to go it might be worth a quick look if you have had a good year.

The other exciting thing that has been well reported but I make reference as it is something that AFTA has been advocating for a long time, is the withdrawal of the Green Departure Card. As of 01 July 2017 nobody will be required to fill out, nor will there be anywhere to drop the Green Departure card, saving a great deal of time and effort as people set off on their trips. For years this card has been included by travel agents in ticket wallets and airline staff have with a little grimes handed them out and we have all suffered the issue of completing them and handing them over. Well no more and good bye to this piece of paper as the Australian government brings our departure experience further into the next generation of thinking.

As the smart gates get smarter and the process gets faster, it is very exciting to think about what is coming in the next couple of years. Australian Border Force tells us that perhaps the passport will become a document you keep in your pocket and your face will be all you need (of course you will always have that with you) to be processed.

And we should all be looking forward to the next phase of arrival technology as well, with some further enhancements in the pipeline. The Orange Arrival card will remain for the foreseeable future.

On a final note, I was informed last week that the Passport Office issued 2 million passports last year, a record year. This means there are more Australians than ever before equipped to take an overseas holiday as they have a passport and will want to use it. We should be looking at a strong second half of 2017 and I hope wherever you sit in the travel value chain, you get your piece of the action.

Luxury Escapes on the road

MELBOURNE-BASED travel package specialist Luxury Escapes has taken to the road, meeting with about 1,000 existing and potential customers at a series of events held in Sydney & the Central Coast in recent days.

GM Blake Hutichson led a team of executives on the 'LE on the Road' roadshow, which included Kooindah Waters, Castle Hill and Sydney's CBD (last night).

Attendees also had the chance to win a $14,000 prize to the W Retreat in Koh Samui.

Luxury Escapes partnerships & contracting mgr Tom McMenemie told Travel Daily the showcase provided customers with a platform to learn more about the special offers and ask questions directly about travel products and destinations the firm sells.

He said clients were queued in long rows to have a yarn.

With similar member events already held in its home state, Luxury Escapes envisages other shows for Brisbane and Perth in the future.

The travel disrupter continues to experience massive growth for its accommodation packages, and has developed a range of tours and cruises under the 'Tours by LE' branding (TD 19 Jun) to keep up with demand from its 1.4 million subscribers in Australia.

Head of tours Sonia Pilovska said the company was expanding rapidly, with its curated escorted touring options growing at the rate of around five trips per week.

Pilovska said the events enabled members to learn about the myths and common misconceptions about touring.

China incentive group

MELBOURNE last week welcomed 3,000 delegates from the mega Chinese incentive group Perfect China.

Arriving on 19 Jun, the group participated in a five-day rewards program, which included activities around Melbourne and regional Victoria.

Victorian Minister for Tourism and Major Events John Eren said the delegates generated $19.5m in economic benefit to the state. It is the largest Chinese incentive group to travel to Victoria since 2008.

Perfect China is a health and beauty company.

Cebu defers A321neos

PHILIPPINE carrier Cebu Pacific has confirmed its order for a fleet of seven additional Airbus A321CEO aircraft (TD 08 Jun) is due to delivery delays with an existing order for A321NEOs.

The A321NEOs are reportedly delayed due to engine issues.

CEB cfo Andrew Huang said, "We have decided to take a conservative approach to introducing the A321NEO."

Deliveries are due to begin in Mar 2018 for the A321CEOs.

Crown staff sentence

CROWN Resorts Limited has confirmed 17 current and two former employees, including three Australians (TD 13 Jun), have been sentenced over gambling charges in China.

The group was convicted in Shanghai for two violations of Chinese law including promoting gambling, which is illegal in Mainland China.

Melbourne-based executive James O'Connor was handed a $390,000 fine and 10 months in jail, while other Australians Jane Pan Dan and Jerry Xuan were fined $78,000 and $39,000 each and both sentenced nine months.

Time from being in custody since Oct 2016 will count towards time served, and the three will be released over the coming months.

Money

WELCOME to Money, TD's Tue feature on what the Australian dollar is doing.

$1AUD = US0.758

THE Australian dollar had a strong overnight rally as US data failed to meet expectations of investors.

Energy prices have continued to drop over the past week as growing fears of an oil glut hit the price of crude.

The AUD's best gains were against the low yielding currencies with the AUDEUR up 0.4%, AUDJPY up 0.8% and the AUDUSD climbed 0.2% on the back of weak data.

Today's focus will be on NZ trade balance data, which has been one reason for NZD's recent strength against the AUD.
