NTIA excitement ramps up

THE release of this year's finalists for the National Travel Industry Awards (TD breaking news) for the first time ever includes the four new "Consultant of the Year" categories introduced as part of the new CATO Awards.

Travel agents will be honoured for their expertise in Adventure, Group Touring, Ski and FIT (TD 30 Nov 2018), in addition to the NTIA's long-standing consultant categories for Best Travel Agency Manager, and Best Travel Consultant Corporate/Leisure.

This year there's also a new Best Mobile Travel Advisor category, while the renamed Best Mobile Travel Advisor Network will showcase this fast-growing industry sector with finalists including MTA, Travel Counsellors, TravelManagers, Travel Partners and SmartFlyer.

Flight Centre, Helloworld Travel and Travellers Choice will battle

it out in the Best Travel Agency Group category, while ATAC, Magellan, Independent Travel Group, CT Partners and Travel Associates are finalists this year in the Best Non Branded Travel Agency Group category.

On the supplier side, the Best Wholesaler - International finalists include Expedia TAAP, Adventure World, Tempo Holidays, Wendy Wu Tours and Qantas Holidays/Viva! Holidays.

Individual supplier sales executives are highlighted in the Best Sales Executive categories for Land, Cruise and Air, while finalists this year for Best Specialty Wholesaler include Entire Travel Group, Sno'n'Ski, V Travel Network, Inside Japan Tours and Greece & Mediterranean Travel Centre.

Tickets for the industry night of nights, the 2019 NTIA Gala Dinner go on sale tomorrow - see the full list of finalists at afta.com.au.

IHG long-stay brand

INTERCONTINENTAL Hotels Group has announced the launch of its new Atwell Suites brand, targeting guests staying four to six nights in each location.

Speaking at IHG's Americas Investors and Leadership Conference in Las Vegas, Chief Executive Officer Keith Barr said the new "all-suite" offering would be positioned in the upper midscale segment, filling a gap between current extended stay and select service options.

SeaDream battery

SEADREAM Yacht Club's new Seadream Innovation (TD 21 Mar), due to set sail in Sep 2021, will feature a 4MWh battery pack allowing it to sail silently and emissions free for up to three hours without disturbing wildlife.

Environmental organisation Enova, owned by the Norwegian Government, helped support the development of the platform.

MGM shooting bill

THE cost of settling lawsuits relating to the 2017 mass shooting in Las Vegas could amount to as much as US$800 million, according to a regulatory filing last week by MGM Resorts International.

The shooter fired from a room in MGM's Mandalay Bay Resort, and a class action is currently representing more than 4,000 claimants including families of victims from across the USA.

About 800 were injured and 58 killed in the shooting, with the lawsuit claiming MGM failed to adequately protect the 22,000 people attending a music festival.

Hilton, Lyft partner

HILTON and ride-sharing firm Lyft have announced an expanded loyalty partnership, which will see Hilton points earned for each ride.

Enhancements planned for later in the year will also allow points to be redeemed for Lyft trips.

Industry hails poll result

THE travel and tourism industry has welcomed last Sat's shock election outcome, which has seen incumbent Prime Minister Scott Morrison retain power with an increased majority.

Australian Tourism Export Council MD Peter Shelley said the inbound sector had always been committed to working with whichever party formed Government "in order to highlight the value of our industry and the opportunities it brings to our economy".

He said the Coalition's tourism policy had committed to deliver improved arrival and visa processing systems, along with support for airport upgrades and a "genuine investment in industry supported tourism icon infrastructure development".

Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA) Australasia MD Joel Katz said he looked forward to working with the returned

Government to further develop the Australian cruise industry.

"Worldwide, cruise lines are investing billions of dollars in new ships and new technology that will enable them to maintain growth while at the same time reducing their impact on the environment," he said.

"This investment needs to be backed by further development in port infrastructure and a supportive policy framework."

AFTA CEO Jayson Westbury said "we remain confident that the new Morrison Government will deliver for our sector".

He highlighted the importance of the economy, consumer sentiment and "thirst for a successful Australia," also acknowledging that while Labor had not been victorious there were many ALP members still in parliament, with AFTA priding itself on its strong bipartisan relationships in Canberra.

Pan Pacific to UK

PAN Pacific Hotels Group has announced its first European property, with the planned launch of Pan Pacific London in 2020.

The 237-room property will be located at One Bishopsgate Plaza, about a five-minute walk from Liverpool Street Station.

The hotel will feature a "Signature Suite" on the 18th floor with a spectacular view of London landmark The Gherkin building, while there will also be a 370-seat ballroom, six meeting areas and a Studio Lounge for early arrivals and late departures.

QF, VA status bonus

QANTAS & Virgin Australia have both launched "double status credit" offers for select frequent flyers, allowing them to accrue credits at double the normal rate.

The promotions are valid for the next week or so, for bookings by registered participants of flights through until Apr or May 2020.

Domestic trips drop in Mar

AUSTRALIAN domestic passenger numbers declined 2.8% year-on-year in Mar, according to figures released today by the Bureau of Infrastructure, Transport and Regional Economics.

A total of 5.28 million people were carried on commercial aviation during the month, including charter operations.

It was the fourth consecutive monthly decrease in the number of passengers on scheduled RPT (Regular Passenger Transport) services in Australia.

Load factors decreased on 47 out of 65 scheduled routes during the month.

Melbourne-Sydney remained the country's busiest route with 816,417 passengers (down 1.8% year-on-year), followed by Brisbane-Sydney with 404,452 passengers (down 2.6%).

The greatest percentage decrease was on the Proserpine-Sydney route, down 30.8% but there were also large decreases on other routes including Cairns-Townsville (down 22%), Darwin-Perth (down 17.3%) and Broome-Perth (down 14.6%).

Routes with year-on-year traffic increases in Mar 2019 included Brisbane-Hobart, which was up 8.5%, as well as Sydney-Townsville which grew 5.8%.

Sydney remained Australia's busiest domestic airport, with 2.33 million passenger movements, just ahead of Melbourne with 2.19 million and then Brisbane in third place with 1.43 million domestic movements.

Aussies can now use UK e-gates

ELIGIBLE travellers from Australia can now use ePassport gates to enter the UK, with changes being made to the British border effective from today.

The expansion also covers passengers from New Zealand, Canada, Japan, the USA, South Korea and Singapore, in an effort to speed up border controls for low-risk countries.

Travellers aged 18 and over with a biometric passport can use the gates, as well as those aged 12-17 who are accompanied by an adult, with UK border facilities currently operating 64 ePassport gates at 15 air and rail terminals.

VisitBritain Director, Patricia Yates, said "we want to provide a world-class experience for the millions of visitors who travel here every year.

"The new e-Gate access for eligible travellers, including those from Australia, boosts our competitive tourism offer and our message of welcome, building on the growth we have seen and inspiring even more Aussie visitors to book a trip to Britain right now," she said.

There were more than 10 million arrivals in the UK by nationals from the six newly eligible countries in 2017.

MAN fuel crisis

ALMOST 100 flights at Manchester Airport in the UK have been grounded, due to a refuelling problem related to power supply issues.

Pax are being urged to check with airlines for further info, with the airport still open while urgent repair works are undertaken.

Window Seat

AN AIRBNB listing in Amsterdam was clean, cheap and offered a private bathroom - but also happened to be a shipping container.

British tourist Ben Speller thought he'd found a bargain when booking the three bedroom property for just £100, but was somewhat bemused when he arrived and was confronted by a large grey container with three mattresses and a portaloos.

He promptly turned around and decided to stay in a more conventional hotel, and after initially failing to receive a refund from the owner eventually got his money back following intervention by Airbnb.

The accommodation platform confirmed it had banned the host, saying "misrepresented or fraudulent listings have no place on our platform".

City authorities have also since removed the container.

LOST your passport? Head for the nearest McDonald's.

A new partnership announced by the US Embassy in Austria promises to help American citizens out when in trouble.

Details on Facebook confirmed the pact, saying McDonald's restaurants across the country have agreed to assist guests in making contact with the Embassy for consular services.

The initiative predictably saw a host of not-so-hilarious comments about so-called McVisas and McPassports.

Encore's colourful reveal

IMAGES have emerged of the hull artwork for Norwegian Cruise Line's new ship, Norwegian Encore, as she prepares for her Oct debut.

The vessel, (pictured above), is the cruise line's fourth Breakaway-Plus class ship and will accommodate up to 4,000 guests.

Following her debut, she will cruise out of Miami every Sun and sail seven-day voyages to the Eastern Caribbean.

The hull artwork was created by Spanish artist Eduardo Arranz-Bravo and is a representation of his modern and abstract style, inspired by his life by the sea.

CWT appoints

CWT has appointed David Zimmer in the newly created role of Head of Channel Evolution.

Zimmer has been charged with working to ensure CWT delivers industry-leading options for the way travellers want to interact with the company.

He has held various leadership positions in the travel industry, and most recently Global Head of Innovation & Data, Hospitality for Travelport.

In the new role he will report to fellow former Travelport employee, Niklas Andreen, who is CWT's Executive VP and Chief Traveller Experience Officer.

British bust out

ABOUT 6,000 UK holidaymakers have been left holding invalid vouchers after the collapse of Hotel Voucher Shop, a company which promoted gift cards.

The business, which traded as Hotel Stay International Limited, claimed to have contracts with 150,000 hotels and offered coupons worth up to £1,000.

The UK Mirror says the company owes creditors £2.3 million, with administrators confirming it had ceased trading and that "any unredeemed voucher amounts will form unsecured claims in the liquidation".
