more help guessing where this lighthouse lives. Check tomorrow for the answer.

Funnies Flashback

WE'VE trawled through the TD Window Seat archives to give you blast from the past that will hopefully add some cheer to your day. Here's some gems from 31 May 2011:

THE latest twist in the 'planking' saga is a pair of women from Taiwan who have launched a campaign to boost tourism using the controversial social media practice which has led to at least one Australian fatality.

Calling themselves the "Pujie Girls," the women have almost 100,000 followers on Facebook and have posted pictures of themselves in locations such as Ximending in Taipei to boost visitation.

"It's not really that difficult to plank and I really don't mind getting dirty", said one of the ladies.

NEW Zealand prime minister John Key showed his dedication to Kiwi tourism last week by being first in line to congratulate the three millionth passengers on Queenstown's iconic Shotover Jet attraction.

Key presented two lucky Aussie couples with commemorative jackets and beanies, with the foursome also treated by Shotover Jet to a scenic helicopter ride and champagne at the top of Coronet Peak to round off an extremely memorable day.

Amazingly, the milestone occurred in the midst of TRENZ which was held in the Southern Lakes region, with Key also obligingly posing in a Shotover Jet promotional vehicle.
