

Where in the world?

WHEN this country was selected to host the Olympics, the government was planning to just restore an earlier stadium that was previously used, but when another political party came to power, they decided to take advantage of the games to push their message and so constructed a new stadium.

The Olympic Games held at this venue were the first to be televised, and the games themselves were controversial for a number of different reasons.

Do you know where in the world this stadium is?
