QF rolls out domestic IFE

QANTAS has confirmed that it's rolling out seat-back personal on-demand inflight entertainment on some domestic routes, as revealed by Travel Daily (TD 18 Nov).

Today a brand new QF A330-200 aircraft is operating its first flight between Sydney and Perth, with IFE in all cabins and a new generation seating product.

"For the first time Qantas will operate a domestic aircraft featuring state-of-the-art in-seat entertainment for all customers," said ceo Alan Joyce.

The Panasonic eX2 touch screen system has more than 500 entertainment options including movies, a CD library, games and a dedicated section for children.

Qantas said the A330 has 36 business and 265 economy seats, with business class passengers offered "an extra wide seat width" of 56cm (22 inches), ergonomic cushions and an extendable leg rest.

Economy seats are 46cm wide and have a seat base that moves in conjunction with the recline, and every seat has PC power and an individual USB port to enable charging of personal devices.

Qantas said the new plane would continue to operate on trans-continental flights between Sydney, Melbourne and Perth, with a second A330-200 scheduled to arrive in Feb next year.

The carrier added that the same product had also been recently introduced on the new 737-800 aircraft operating between Australia and NZ, and would be fitted to all new aircraft entering the domestic network.

QH groups focus

QANTAS Holidays and Viva! Holidays this morning announced the launch of a new dedicated Groups department.

National Sales Manager, Bettina Barker, said the new operation would specialise in wedding bookings and the business events market, assisting agents with any booking for 10 or more pax.

She said the move was "great news for agents who can now benefit from applicable group discounts, a dedicated groups team and on top of this, they can still earn Trip points on the land component of group bookings."

The new operation offers a 48 hour turnaround time on quotes and bookings, and can be contacted via a dedicated groups number at 1300 139 747, by direct email to qhgroups@qantas.com.au or qantasholidays.com.au.agents.

Mantra settles web spat

MANTRA Group has announced the formal settlement of legal proceedings against an internet booking website accused of misleading consumers (TD 03 Nov).

A company called Holiday Zone Pty Ltd, along with website designer Ajit Pal Singh Mann, have agreed not to use any of the trademarks associated with the Mantra Group, "nor to advertise for rent or lease any apartments located in Mantra Group properties in a way that could confuse holidaymakers that they are actually booking with Mantra Group when in fact they are not."

Holiday Zone operates more than 40 accommodation booking websites, which will now carry a notice on listings from offsite

Orion II inaugural

ORION Expedition Cruises has released details of the inaugural voyage of its new Orion II (TD Thu) which debuts in May 2011.

The first ever cruise will be a 23-night voyage from Vancouver to Kushiro in Japan, with the itinerary taking in Alaska, the Aleutian Islands, Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula and the Kuril Islands.

Confirmed dates and pricing aren't yet available, but the fifty staterooms and suites onboard are first being offered to past passengers who can secure a spot with a $1000 refundable deposit.

Clients are able to reserve a place either directly with Orion or through their travel agent.

operators which "will protect holidaymakers from misunderstandings associated with misrepresentation."

Mann said the settlement would make people aware of the risks of bookings with a third party who isn't a licenced travel agent or licenced real estate agency.

"Over time, we will only work with official resort or hotel managers and not accept listings from unlicensed entities," he said, with the move "a vital step in cleaning up the industry and increasing consumer confidence in booking accommodation online."

Mantra is continuing legal action against other operators including Tailly Pty Ltd and Stephan, Andrew Grant, with a court date expected to be set next week.

Mantra Group gm distribution, Luke Jamieson, said the company is "looking forward to working with Holiday Zone in the future."

Octaviar recovery

THE creditors committee of the collapsed former MFS met in Brisbane yesterday for an update from the liquidators Bentleys Corporate Recovery.

Bentleys confirmed that the liabilities of the company are around $2.2 billion, citing "poor strategic management of business" for the collapse, according to the Financial Review.

$138.2m has already been recovered by Bentleys, and the company is reportedly considering what to do with the only remaining Octaviar asset, a child care business valued at $35m which owes $33m to the St George Bank.

Window Seat

THIS is huge news for Las Vegas.

63-year-old crooner Barry Manilow has confirmed a new two-year contract to perform at the Paris Las Vegas hotel-casino.

He's been performing at the nearby Hilton for five years, with his last show there 30 Dec.

The Paris show will be completely new, Manilow said. "We started from scratch and it's going to be just gorgeous."

"I've always believed that a good love song will never go out of style," he added.

POLICE created their own tourist attraction near Cremona in northern Italy after smashing a $500,000 Lamborghini Gallardo into a row of parked cars.

It was one of two supercars donated by Lamborghini to the police service, who planned to use it for high speed pursuits.

Witnesses saying the Gallardo accelerated suddenly before skidding into the other vehicles.

Police tried to confiscate mobile phone cameras from onlookers, but abandoned the attempt when hundreds more turned up to gawk at the debacle.

AUTHORITIES in India have launched a campaign to brush up New Delhi's image for the many tourists expected to attend next year's Commonwealth Games.

They're particularly concerned about the common practice of urinating in the street, and the promotion includes the catchy slogan "Don't be sus su kumar" which translates as "Don't be Mister Pee".

Roman taxi move

A MAJOR taxi cooperative in Rome is set to launch a new system which allows tourists to pay for taxi rides online before they are picked up.

Users will also be able to ask for a cabbie who speaks English, French, Spanish or German.

Radiotaxi 3570 says it wants to "change the public's perceptions about Rome taxi drivers," who are often accused of overcharging and bickering with other cabs.

The company said it also plans to launch a similar system in other major Italian cities.

EK ditches 2nd daily A380 to LHR

EMIRATES has shelved the planned introduction of a second daily A380 service between Dubai and London Heathrow.

EK003/004 was originally planned to start up on 15 Dec.

BA warned in USA

BRITISH Airways has been issued an official reprimand by the US Department of Transportation after it revoked several hundred tickets for flights to India which were sold very cheaply due to a "fare mistake".

The base fare for the services was just US$40, which jumped to US$560 once all taxes and levies were added on, with USA Today reporting that's still "hundreds of dollars less than a regular advance-purchase fare to India."

The DoT received a number of complaints after BA cancelled all of the tickets three days later.

A report into the subsequent investigation said the "unilateral cancellation...has caused financial harm to a large number of consumers.

"We believe that all airlines should accept some responsibility for even the erroneous fares they publish," the department said.

BA wasn't fined by the DoT and subsequently offered a $300 discount on new India bookings to the affected customers.

GA drops HCMC

GARUDA Indonesia has stopped its flights between Jakarta and Ho Chi Minh City via Singapore, citing insufficient demand.

The 737-800 flights were operating daily, and GA said it's instead maintaining a presence on the route via a codeshare with Vietnam Airlines between Singapore and Ho Chi Minh.

Whitsundays is it

THE Whitsunday Islands will get lots of exposure this summer with the destination featured in the new Coca-Cola commercial.

The ad was shot on location at Koala Adventure Island, and features a massive Coke bottle on a floating pontoon which 'shoots' happy Coke drinkers up into the air with its effervescence.

USAPA opposes US/DL slot swaps

THE US Airline Pilots Association is seeking an investigation from the Dept of Justice's Antitrust Division into the proposed slot, gate and facility transaction between US Airways and Delta Air Lines (TD 13 Aug).

Under the agreement, US and DL plan to exchange airport slots at New York's LaGuardia and Washington's Reagan National airports - Delta will swap 42 pairs at Reagan for 125 pairs of US Airways slots at LaGuardia.

The USAPA says the deal may have "serious antitrust concerns."

President Mike Cleary said the pact would lead to higher fares and a likely reduction in routes to smaller cities.

"The transaction warrants a thorough review of the consequences of a deal that creates this level of market domination," Cleary said.

LX heads to SFO

SWISS International Air Lines has announced that it will begin six times per week flights between Zurich and San Francisco.

Indigenous Tourism Champions

TOURISM Australia has today announced that twenty small businesses have been chosen to champion Indigenous tourism in international marketing.

TA exec gm marketing, Nick Baker, said there had been a surge in the development of new indigenous tourism products.

"The emergence of an authentic, sustainable, top quality range of indigenous travel experiences is absolutely key to Australia's international tourism image," he said.

Baker said a significant focus of the program would be to work with the businesses "to ensure they're properly represented and profiled in the global tourism sales distribution system so that international consumers can easily book them."

Chair of the Tourism Australia

Indigenous Tourism Advisory Panel, Aden Ridgeway, said the operators would feature in both domestic and international marketing campaigns.

"By shifting our trade marketing efforts to focus on some of our best performing Indigenous tourism operators we also hope to strengthen relationships with the inbound and wholesale buyers...and provide an increase incentive for them to include Indigenous experiences on their clients' itineraries," he said.
