HA boosts SYD capacity

HAWAIIAN Airlines will increase capacity between Hawaii and Australia by 33% from 15 Oct, with the reintroduction of a fourth weekly service to Sydney.

HA currently operates direct services from Honolulu to Sydney on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, with a new Saturday flight already loaded into agent GDSs now available for booking.

The first Sat service ex Sydney

APT Canada 2011

APT has released its 2011 Canada/Alaska brochure which features 18 Gold VIP upgrades on a range of trips and two Platinum Collection small group tours.

Also new is a 25-day Rockies & Alaska Adventure trip, priced from $15,675 per person.

The 104-page brochure has "SuperDeals" that include free return airfares and discounts, representing a saving of up to $6,260 per couple.

departs at 9:20pm on 16 Oct, the same time as the other scheduled services.

Hawaiian Airlines will operate its two-class Boeing 767-300ER aircraft on the route, however it's understood HA will supplement one of its brand new Airbus A330-200 jets during peak travel dates in Dec as more units are added to the carrier's fleet, as flagged by Travel Daily in May (TD 10 May).

When the Honolulu-based carrier initially began its Sydney operation in May 2004 it offered a four times weekly service, but the frequency was cut to thrice weekly a few years ago.

Intrepid restructure

INTREPID Travel says that due to a "rapid expansion" of its sales companies overseas, the tour operator has gone about an internal restructure, separating its sales and marketing teams.

The move has been made to support sales growth across industry, direct and retail channels as the company continues to grow, Intrepid says.

The restructure sees Intrepid's Global Industry Sales Manager, Jame Thornton, appointed to the newly created position of General Manager Global Sales.

Thornton will report to CEO Darrell Wade and joins Intrepid Travel's Management Group, "providing strategic advice to develop and enhance sales performance at both a global and local level," the operator said.

A replacement for the Global Industry Sales Manager position is being sought.

2010 Avis finalists named

THE finalists for the 2010 Avis Travel Agent Scholarship of Excellence have been named: Lisa Brown and Leanne Downie of Spencer Travel (TSAX); Paul Mirabito, FCM Travel Solutions, NSW (Flight Centre); Kelly Spinks, Jetset Travel Albany, WA (JTG); Nigel Rodighiero, Phil Hoffmann Travel, SA (TSAX); and Marcia Salpietro, Globetrotter Corporate Travel, Vic (CT Parnters).

Organisers said this year's event was one of the most competitive in the award's 14 year history, with four major travel agency groups represented.

"Consultants applied from across Australia and with the encouragement of the country's leading leisure and corporate networks," Avis Travel Industry manager Russell Butler said.

"The end result is an exceptionally strong and diverse group of finalists," he added.

The six finalists will attend the National Travel Industry Awards as guests of AFTA next Sat (TD 29 Apr), before providing a final presentation to the Avis Travel Agents Advisory Board at the Four Seasons Hotel in Sydney on 05 Aug.

Finalists are not only vying for

Google adding OTC

GOOGLE has confirmed it plans to purchase US-based online travel company ITA Software (TD 27 Apr) for US$700m.

ITA provides software for other online travel businesses.

Google chief executive Eric Schmidt said, "Their technology opens exciting possibilities for us to create new ways for users to more easily find flight information online, and we're looking forward to welcoming them to Google."

Contiki gap filler

CONTIKI has released its new 2011 Gap Year Europe program, offering two itineraries and catered to school leavers wanting to work in the UK.

The tours take advantage of the UK's mid year school breaks and start in Jul 2011.

On offer is a 32-day Original Europe Camping tour priced from $3,626pp; and a 29-day Concept Unique European Contrasts tour, from $4,354pp.

See contiki.com.au/gapyear.

the prestigious title, but two Qantas Business Class tickets to New York, six nights' luxury accom, seven days Avis car hire, $750 worth of foreign exchange products, along with free tuition for the first year of a three-year Bachelor of Tourism Management course at Southern Cross Uni.

Furthermore, this year's winner will gain a place into the Travel Industry Mentor Experience (TIME), four ICCA cruise training modules and a Polonius Resources business coaching session.

QH/VH up cruising

QANTAS Holidays & Viva! Hols have announced the expansion of its cruise program to include Royal Caribbean International, Celebrity Cruises and Azamara Club Cruises, effective immediately.

QH Hols gm Chris Rankin said: "Not only do we now offer an expanded cruising range which we will continue to grow, but we can also provide more added value for agents and passengers," meaning airfares, hotels, transfers and cruising can all be booked at the one time.

"Qantas Holidays understands the increasing pressures agents are facing in the industry and we want to do what we can to simplify the booking process," Rankin said.

Venture in China

VENTURE Holidays is adding new and regional FIT product to its China program, following a two week reconnaissance mission to Beijing and Shanghai by the wholesaler's md Robert Mackay.

"Customer demand and massive changes to tourism infrastructure in Beijing and, particularly, Shanghai had prompted the change to promote the cities as destinations in their own right," Mackay said.

New product expected includes a tour of the 2010 World Expo host city, Shanghai, in the sidecar of a Harley Davidson motorcycle, and there'll likely be a new 10-day Walk the Great Wall itinerary.

SOH translates

Window Seat

GRANDPA takes to the skies!

A 94-year old retired RAF wing commander, James Brown, is attempting to break the world speed record for a solo flight in an autogyro.

Brown hand-built his own twin propeller autogyro around 40 years ago, even flying it himself in the 1967 Bond film 'You Only Live Twice'.

Brown is timing his attempt to correspond with the centenary of the world's first Walbro monoplane flight (designed and flown by his father and Uncle 100 years ago).

THIS is definitely a different way to de-stress.

The American Association for Nude Recreation has organised a 'Skinny-Dip Across North America' on 10 Jul, which is expected to attract a cast of thousands.

Hoping to set the title for the largest number of simultaneous skinny-dippers, the AANR is inviting people of all shapes and ages to drop their trousers and get involved!

JUST strap 'em to the wings!

Irish low cost carrier Ryan Air is at it again, with ceo Michael O'Leary revisiting his proposed plan to introduce 'vertical seats' as an option for super low-budget travellers who don't mind long periods of standing.

The plan would see the last 10 rows of seats removed across its fleet of 250 jets, to make way for upright seats (below).

O'Leary says the seats will allow people to be strapped in while standing up and the carrier has consulted with Boeing to see if the refit would be possible.

Should Ryanair actually get the seats approved, it hopes to charge about £4- £8 per seat.

787-9 gets the nod

BOEING has announced the completion of firm configuration for its 787-9 Dreamliner, which allows the aircraft manufacturer and its suppliers to begin detailed design of parts, assemblies and other systems of the aircraft.

The 787-9 is a slightly bigger aircraft than the 787-8, and can seat up to 290 passengers.

Boeing expects the first 787-9 delivery will be in late 2013.

Jetstar has 25 787-9s on order with Boeing.

Excite IntelIRates

EXCITE Holidays has introduced a new B2B booking price structure dubbed IntelIRates.

"We needed to implement a variable, fair, pricing solution that includes passing on future rate reductions on a strengthening Australian Dollar," said director George Papaioannou.

Using IntelIRates, rooms can be secured over 12 months in advance of travel without a deposit being paid.

All applications will be treated in strict confidence.

Yallah! EY's off to the movies

THE official opening of the 2010 Arab Film Festival was held at the Riverside Theatre in Parramatta, Sydney last night.

The four-day festival (1-4 Jul) will "showcase stories from diverse Arabic-speaking cultures, depicting the complexity and diversity of Arab communities and lifestyles", said festival director Mouna Zaylah.

For the second consecutive year, Etihad Airways has flown the Arab film makers to Australia for the national tour, which will also be held in Melbourne, Canberra, Brisbane & Adelaide.

Etihad Airways' gm for Australia and NZ, Lindsay White said "The Arab Film Festival Australia plays an invaluable role in fostering cross-cultural understanding in Australia, and Etihad's continued sponsorship recognises and supports this important objective."

Last night's Sydney show kicked off with the first multilingual

Emirati film to be viewed in Australia, City of Life, with film director Ali Mostafa personally introducing his urban drama piece that is set in modern Dubai.

To celebrate the opening of the Arab Film Festival, Etihad is offering special fares to the Middle East, with Beirut starting from as low as $1,834.

Go on, Yu-Kon do it too!

YESTERDAY the Canadian Tourism Commission and Yukon Tourism held a function in Sydney to celebrate Canada Day.

Industry guests were immersed with stories of hiking, biking, paddling and relaxing in Canada's Yukon region.

One participant spoke of his adventure paddling in a 740km canoe race - Yukon River Quest, for three and a half days.

The canoe race needs to be completed in under 80 hours, and allows only two rest stops.

This year the race began on 30 Jun and a group of nine Australian women are participating, aged between 49 and 62, all who have suffered from breast cancer.

Known as the 'Yukon Buddies' this Aussie group will join their main motivators for the mission, a group of Canadian breast cancer survivors who have been competing for the past 10 races, and fundraising for Dragons Abreast Australia along the way.

Another means of travel around the Yukon is by RV (recreational vehicle) starting from the main town of Whitehorse and visiting Dawson City, Faro, Stewart Crossing and Ross River.

The Yukon offers 24 hours of sunlight during the summer period so time has no relevance.

Another stereotypical attraction of Canada is the grizzly bear and according to one encounter there is no need to keep a keen eye out because you might just find them 5 metres away, eating wildflowers on the side of the road.

Sydnicity 3-for-2

NSW Holidays and NSW Tourism has launched a new 'Sydnicity' campaign offering free nights and hotel deals across the city.

The month long campaign will be seen across a range of websites, and all deals are valid for travel until the end of Aug.

The promo features a number of hotels offering stay 3, pay 2 deals including the Travelodge Sydney, Travelodge Newcastle and Medina Executive Coogee.
