Webjet to Asia

WEBJET has today announced it's planning to branch into Asia later this year in a joint-venture with Hong Kong-based Westminster Travel (TD breaking news).

"In our view, Asia represents a significant international growth region," said md David Clarke.

Westminster will provide local management, customer service facilities and "substantial economy of scale" during the set-up.

Clarke will chair Webjet Hong Kong and Webjet Singapore, while Westminster's Larry Ho and Henry Chu will be local directors.

QF int'l numbers sliding

THE Qantas Group as a whole has today reported a combined gradual increase in pax numbers for the financial year to May 2010, with stats showing a rise of 7.6% compared to 2008/09.

The Group figure (which covers QF Domestic, QantasLink, Jetstar Domestic, QF Int'l, JQ Int'l and JQ Asia) for the month of May was also up 5.6%, year-on-year.

However, on its own Qantas Int'l traffic for May slumped 15.9% (or 84,000 passengers) to 443,000 over the period, with revenue seat factors down 3.4% also.

Decreasing passenger numbers were also reported on Jetstar's Domestic traffic, which was down 1.1% for the month.

On the upside, QF domestic traffic was up 4.7% to 1,357,000 pax, QantasLink numbers were up 10.1%, and Jetstar's International figures rose 48.4% to 303,000 pax

DJ May statistics

VIRGIN Blue has reported a 2.4% drop in domestic pax numbers and a 0.7% drop in revenue load factor for the FY to date (May), compared to the same period last year.

Domestic passenger numbers for the month of May rose 3.3% year-on-year, revenue pax kilometres increased 2.7%, but revenue load factor was down 2.4 points.

- no doubt as a result of the off-shoot ramping up its operations.

Total group domestic yield for the financial year to May 2010 was down 3.4% compared to last year, while total Group yield was also down 11.4% against the same period two years earlier.

Qantas noted that competition continues to increase in the low-fare market, and that business travel is gradually improving.

SYD free for 15mins

SYDNEY Airport has announced today the introduction of 0 to 15 minute free parking time band at the Int'l Terminal car park, saving people picking up arriving pax a $7 fee charged for a 30 min stay.

TSAX boosts local focus

TRAVELSCENE American Express members will have the ability to strategically promote their businesses locally following the launch of a comprehensive local area marketing program today.

Dubbed 'Local Travel Agent, Local Communities' the campaign provides TSAX agencies with an online toolkit, a training calendar, support from 'Marketing Angels', and webinar tutorials.

May air travel rises

THE International Air Transport Association has reported an 11.7% year-on-year increase in passenger traffic for May.

IATA boss Giovanni Bisignani said: "Demand rebounded strongly in May following the impact of the European volcanic ash fiasco".

The organisation said Asia-Pacific carriers continue to drive the recovery, recording a 13.2% increase in demand during May.

Bisignani called for a united front in controlling costs to assist with "nurturing the recovery" incl "airports, air navigation service providers, global distribution systems and labor. There are no exceptions," he said.

MEANWHILE, the UN World Tourism Organisation has reported a 7% year-on-year growth in int'l tourist arrivals for the first four months of 2010, with Apr the 7th month of consecutive growth.

From Jan to Apr this year, more than 258 million people travelled internationally.

UNWTO says the figures "confirm the resilience of the tourism sector and the fact that recovery is underway."

general manager Jacqui Timmins said: "Our focus this year has been to really promote our Members at a local level and so we have invested in extensive advertising at a local level with individual calls to actions, profiling our Members within their communities."

Timmins says the local focus comes in response to member feedback and covers traditional marketing channels, as well social media, so TSAX members "are able to work smarter in terms of promoting their business to new and existing clients."

The online toolkit and training calendar provide information on e-marketing, customer loyalty, brand & positioning, networking, sponsorships & promotions, public relations, events & products, as well as training and business support.

LONG live the King!

King Kong has made his return to Universal Studios Hollywood, two years after the movie icon went up in flames after a fire tore through the back-lot in '08.

This time Kong wrecks havoc in a new 3-D Experience created by Peter Jackson as part of the Studio Tour.

Guests onboard the tram tour are provided with special 3D glasses before they enter the new attraction, driving into a sound stage as big as a football field surrounded by enormous screens.

The tram shakes and rattles as King Kong struggles with the 35-foot tall dinosaurs in the deep tangled jungle location.

NOEL Marama had a 'brain-explosion' this week while waiting for his Jetstar flight from Brisbane to Cairns to de-plane.

The impatient pax thought it may help move other passengers along when he mumbled the words "there is a bomb on the plane".

His comment landed him in hot water with the Federal Police, who detained Marama when he got off the plane for questioning, before fining him $4,000 and earning him a criminal record.

STATISTICS indicate it's safer to fly than to drive, but does that include de-planeing?

In a lucky escape for passengers and crew on a Singapore Airlines flight this week at Taiwan Taoyuan Airport, a jet bridge linking the aircraft to the airport collapsed (below) as Business Class pax prepared to disembark the jet.

While the cause of the collapse is still unknown, it's believed the jet bridge had been scheduled for maintenance the same morning after one of its motors had malfunctioned.
