DJ Business Class to OOL

THE Gold Coast will be one of the first domestic ports to offer Virgin Australia's new 737 business class product, with Virgin Australia ceo John Borghetti today announcing that the new cabin would be available on flights to Coolangatta by the end of 2011.

The move will see Gold Coast travellers able to fly in Business Class for the first time in some years, after Qantas replaced its SYD-OOL flights with Jetstar services from 01 Aug 2008.

Borghetti said Virgin would also

TRENZ '12 back in ZQN

THE Tourism Industry Association New Zealand confirmed late Fri the 2012 TRENZ will return to the Southern Lakes region following the success of this year's event.

"Queenstown performed superbly as a location for TRENZ, providing us with fantastic new opportunities to showcase both the region and New Zealand's top tourism operators," said TIA chairman, Norm Thompson.

TRENZ 2011 saw satisfaction levels of 99% from buyers and 98% from exhibitors.

The 2012 instalment will start on 07 May, five weeks ahead of ATE, to provide int'l buyers the chance to explore more of NZ.

open a new lounge at Gold Coast Airport by early 2012, with the moves "proudly responding to the tourism and the business sectors of the Gold Coast and South east Queensland region".

Virgin Australia has now commenced the addition of its new business class cabin to the 737-800 fleet, with the class available for sale "in the last quarter of 2011," Borghetti said.

"The Gold Coast is an important city in the Virgin Australia network," he said, with the airline carrying almost a million OOL passengers each year.

The DJ Gold Coast lounge will have capacity for up to 140 passengers, with the project following the recent launch of the new Brisbane lounge (TD 27 Jul) as well as a new facility in Mackay.

OZ reduces Sydney

ASIANA will reduce its Seoul-Sydney flights from the current daily frequency to six times per week, effective from 30 Oct.

OZ is also increasing its London services from 4 weekly to daily.

MH set for AirAsia tie-up

SHARES in Malaysia Airlines and its low-cost rival AirAsia have both been suspended from trading in Kuala Lumpur today, amid widespread speculation of an alliance between the carriers.

Neither is commenting on the move, but media reports over the weekend suggest that MH's major shareholder, the government-owned Khazanah Nasional, will buy a stake in AirAsia.

A "collaborative partnership" between the airlines would be formed, with new MH shares issued to AirAsia founders Tony Fernandes and Kamarudin Meranun, the reports say.

Qantas will be closely watching developments, after ceo Alan Joyce announced the sponsorship of MH into the oneworld alliance at the recent IATA agm (TD 06 Jun).

A spokesperson for AirAsia said an announcement would be made within the next day or so.

It's believed that the AirAsia owners may end up with as much as 20% of Malaysia Airlines as a result of the mooted deal.

Four shot dead in New Caledonia ticket riots

A NEW fare pricing policy by New Caledonia-based domestic carrier Air Caledonie has led to violent clashes on the Loyalty Islands.

Furious island residents have blockaded the airport on the island of Mare for about two weeks, but over the weekend another group of locals - led by Air Caledonie chairman Nidoish Naisseline - attempted to dislodge the protestors.

Both groups were armed, and the incident quickly degenerated into violence leaving four people dead and 23 seriously injured.

DFAT has reissued its travel advice for New Caledonia, warning that protest action at the domestic airports in Mare, Lifou and the Isle of Pines is "causing localised tensions and disruptions to flights".

A$ dives below $1.04

A MAJOR sell-off on global stock markets on Fri saw the Australian dollar dive to US$1.037 amid concerns by traders over mounting levels of debt in more European economies.

Fifth Tiger deferral

TIGER Airways Australia and CASA on Fri afternoon jointly applied for a further adjournment of the Federal Court case over the carrier's suspension.

It's the fifth time the case has been deferred, and this time the case has been postponed until this Thu 11 Aug.

Tiger suspended its shares from trading pending the confirmation of the longer delay, but trade resumed shortly after it released the announcement.

APT Kimberley cruising

APT this morning released its 2012 Kimberley Cruising brochure with 40 departures across seven cruise-tour combinations.

Coral Princess Cruises voyages link to APT 4WD Small Group Adventures to reach all of the region's must-see destinations.

Earlybird savings of up to $2700 per couple are on offer for bookings before 31 Jan.

Rotorua hotel sale

AUSTRALIAN hospitality investment company Tourism Asset Holdings has sold the Novotel and Ibis hotels in Rotorua, NZ for NZ$43 million.

The deal follows last year's sale by TAH of another six Accor-managed properties in Auckland, Christchurch and Queenstown to US hotelier Host Hotels & Resorts, which also owns the Hilton Melb. South Wharf (TD 27 Apr).

The Rotorua sale was to a "NZ based group with substantial interests in Auckland," according to the brokering agent Warren Hutt from CBRE Hotels.

QF Crusade winners

THE Wallabies may not be rugby union winners, but a number of people in the travel industry are, courtesy of Qantas today.

The carrier has announced the winners of its The Great Crusade incentive, all of whom have won flights to NZ and two places on parts of the Crusade as it follows the Aussie team around NZ during next month's World Cup.

First prize was won by Kerby Reimer from Complete Business Travel (9 nights); Marian Burbury from STA Travel TasUni (7 nights); Ranny from DWI Tours (6 nights); and Nerissa Ilaya from Rising Stars (4 nights).

Trafalgar's first ANZAC

TRAFALGAR Tours has launched its first ever Anzac Day program, with a 12 Apr 2012 departure from Istanbul taking in the Dardanelles & Gallipoli, priced from $2,499ppts, with savings of $100 for bookings paid in full by 30 Sep 2011.

Rex trains UAE pilots

REGIONAL Express' Australian Airline Pilot Academy, together with Alpha Aviation, has today commenced the training of a cohort of pilot students on behalf of Middle Eastern lcc Air Arabia.

The cadets are undertaking the flying component of the new ICAO Multi-Crew Pilot Licence (MPL), with AAPA expecting to train about 60 UAE pilots per year under the arrangement.

Air NZ Vegas charters

AIR New Zealand is today operating two roundtrip flights to US gambling capital Las Vegas non stop from Auckland.

The 747 flights departed AKL yesterday and will return to New Zealand early on Thu morning, according to GDS displays.

Window Seat

BOEING truly put its new 747-8 Freighter aircraft on the map during a test flight last week.

The 17-hour journey across the continental USA saw the aircraft fly over states including Washington, Montana, North Dakota, California, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

When the plane's track was superimposed over a US map by aviation website FlightAware (below) it clearly spelled out the numbers 7-4-7.

TOURISM officials in Qatar have announced the development of a $500m "floating resort".

Dubbed the Amphibious 1000, the project will include four large hotels and 80 four-storey self-contained floating suites - each with an underwater "aquarium lounge" (below).

The property will be developed in a marine reserve, with the designer, Italian firm Giancarlo Zema, promising it will be in "harmony with nature".

Kokoda culture focus

PEREGRINE Adventures says its Kokoda Track tour aims to connect travellers and locals, with the trip focused on the cultural experience rather than war history.

The tour involves 11 villages along the Kokoda track under an alliance with local landowners.

From next year, Peregrine's Kokoda itinerary will be reduced one day, to 11 days in length, and include eight days of trekking.

Travelpart profit dips

TRAVELPORT has reported an 11% year on year drop in pre-tax profit in Q2 2011, falling $17m short of the $153m level set in the corresponding period in 2010.

The change saw the First Half 2011 result slide 4% to $283m. CEO Gordon Wilson said the first half performance was "in line with management expectations, which was achieved despite the impact of extraneous global events in the earlier part of the year."

Aussie Matai's Conference

ABOVE: Tourism Fiji held its first "in location" 'Matai' conference for top selling Australian agents at Shangri-La's The Fijian Resort & Spa on the Coral Coast over three days last weekend.

This inaugural event was a step away from the normal, with the majority of activities taking place at the property, unlike previous educationals which saw agents and wholesalers split into groups and explore different parts of Fiji. Tourism Fiji Regional Director

Paresh Pant said the change "represents a real departure from our previous methodology."

"This new short and very intense format allows us to fully focus the Matais on our key sales message under the same roof at the one time," Pant said.

Pant is pictured with the 61 Aussie 'Matais', on location.

Skålleagues ready to rock on

ALMOST 250 industry guests gathered at the Four Seasons Hotel in Sydney on Sat night to celebrate the 10th annual Skål Travel & Tourism ball.

The 'Glam Rock' themed event saw just a few Skålleagues break out the dark sunglasses, fishnet stockings and lacy numbers, but guests made up for it on the dance floor, busting their moves to songs performed by Australian rock legend, Marty Rhone.

It was a big night for Sydney North Skålleague and 30 year veteran, Ross Smith, who was presented with the David Schrandt Award in recognition of his outstanding contribution to promoting Skål in Australia.

The 72nd Skål World Congress is the next major event on the Skål calendar, and will this year be held in Turku, Finland from 18-22 Sep.

UA $20K fine for error

THE US government has fined United Airlines US$20,000 for providing incorrect info to pax in relation to compensation in the event of lost, delayed or damaged baggage on international flights.

Under the Montreal Convention, effective 30 Dec 2009, airlines are liable to pay up to a 1,131 Special Drawing Rights (about US$1,800).

But UA was alleged to have handed out ticket wallets in Jan with an amount of 1,000 SDRs as the limit of baggage liability.

NZ-China streamlining

IMMIGRATION New Zealand has implemented changes to the visa process for Chinese travellers, making it easier and quicker for people from China to visit NZ.

Changes include the relaxation of paperwork required to support a visa application, making it more appealing for single destination travellers, Tourism NZ says.

Chinese visitor numbers to NZ have increased 25% year on year, Tourism New Zealand chief executive, Kevin Bowler said.

Industry wowed at record World of Accor

Monday 8th Aug 2011

MORE than 1100 people from across the Australian industry helped Accor celebrate 20 years in Australia at last week's annual World of Accor showcase (TD Fri).

The record attendance saw the crowds entertained by Channel 7 stars Larry Emdur and Melissa Doyle, and guests enjoyed fine food washed down with copious quantities of Robert Oatley wines.

It was a particularly special event for Christie-Lee Lachance of Specialist Holidays (below), who will be buzzing around town in her brand new bright red Peugeot 207 Convertible, after taking out the major prize; while there were also lots of other prizes won including a trip to Thailand courtesy of THAI Airways International.

Lots more pics online at www.traveldaily.com.au/photos.
