Jetglobe Travel goes under

MERRYLANDS, NSW-based travel agency Jetglobe Travel has been placed into receivership and terminated from participation in the Travel Compensation Fund.

The company, operated by Joseph Said, was a member of the Breakaway Travel franchise group, and was also previously the Australian representative for the now defunct Viva Macau airlines.

- AA Appointments

The Australian Taxation Office initiated court action against Jetglobe which led to a winding up order and the appointment of a liquidator earlier this month.

TCF gm Glen Wells told TD this morning that claims had already begun coming in over the Jetglobe collapse, with expectations they will amount to around $100,000.

MEANWHILE the ATO has also initiated proceedings against Travelscene Amex member Omega World Travel, based in Ashfield NSW, according to a notice in the Sydney Morning Herald yesterday.

QF seeks rights variations

QANTAS is requesting changes to capacity determinations on a number of international routes, seeking variations which will enable the capacity to also be used "by any wholly-owned subsidiary" of the carrier.

The International Air Services Commission yesterday published the requests, relating to the renewal of determinations which expire during 2012.

Affected routes include flights to Germany, Hong Kong, Thailand, and the Philippines, with Qantas in each case requesting renewals of current capacity allocations but with the modifications asking for the ability to operate using an offshoot airline.

The move is intriguing given the previously announced plans for QF's new Asian-based premium airline, along with the expected rapid expansion of Jetstar International once it begins to receive its long-awaited 787s.

MEANWHILE Virgin Australia has also lodged an IASC request for the renewal of determinations on the Solomon Islands and Fiji routes, which also expire in 2012.

Engineer strikes off

THE Australian Licenced Aircraft Engineers Association yesterday called a three week halt to its ongoing industrial action against QF, (TD breaking news) with federal secretary Steve Purvinas now urging members to "accept all overtime offered".

He said the engineers would now "assist wherever possible in getting the seven grounded aircraft back in the air," while Qantas spokesperson Olivia Wirth said it would take months to clear the maintenance backlog.

MEANWHILE the Transport Workers Union has announced more ground staff stoppages next week, with walkouts in Sydney, Canberra and Cairns on Wed.

Singapore OKs SQ/DJ

THE Competition Commission of Singapore (CCS) has given approval for the proposed alliance between Virgin Australia and Singapore Airlines (TD breaking news).

SIA exec vp commercial, Mak Swee Wah, welcomed the approval, saying the carrier looks forward to "soon being able to offer customers the full benefits of our landmark alliance".

And DJ ceo John Borghetti said the deal was key to the strategy of "building an international network with global coverage to complement Virgin Australia's core domestic business".

The Singapore go-ahead follows last week's draft ACCC approval (TD 13 Oct), with the regulator now seeking further submissions before making a final decision.

Airline ancillaries soar 43.8%

EXTRA charges by airlines for baggage, meals, booking fees and other services are becoming an ever-more "crucial component in the global airline industry's profit toolbox," according to an Amadeus report released yesterday.

The technology firm estimates that ancillary charges this year will amount to $32.5 billion, providing a "very effective hedge against runaway fuel bills".

The total is up $9.9 billion on last year, an increase of 43.8%, with particularly strong growth (87%) by US major airlines.

However about half of the ancillary revenue by the American carriers was generated by the sale of frequent flier miles, notably those linked to co-branded credit card activity.

Other US carrier ancillary income was due to baggage fees (20%) and other services such as onboard and website retail.

Amadeus said "savvy airline managers have learned ancillary revenue should not rely upon forced choices, but rather allow consumers to tailor travel according to their budget".

UL/AC codeshare

SRILANKAN Airlines and Air Canada have announced a new codeshare agreement, covering UL flights to Europe (London Heathrow, Frankfurt and Paris CDG) and AC's transatlantic routes from those airports to Vancouver, Calgary, Montreal, Ottawa, Edmonton and Halifax.

It's understood that the AC/UL pact is likely to be extended to routes via Hong Kong in the future.

Premium Entry hrs

VIRGIN Australia has extended the operating hours of its Sydney Lounge Premium Entry at the T2 domestic terminal from 5:15am until 9:15pm daily.

The Premium Entry is available to Velocity Platinum & Gold members as well as Business Class and Premium Economy class pax with carry-on luggage only.

Climate change info

THE Federal Govt has released a 10-page publication aimed at assisting the tourism industry on issues of climate change.

The 'Responding to Climate Change' publication was prepared earlier this year but only made widely public last week after Tourism Australia's Directions conference hosted in Canberra.

It provides a list of resources that travel businesses can access further info on sustainability and lowering carbon emissions - see the document at bit.ly/tdRtCC.

Getaway USA focus

TOMORROW night's episode of Channel Nine's travel program Getaway highlights getting the most of a holiday to the USA, from Los Angeles to Miami.

Samoa visitors surge

THE Samoa Tourism Authority has reported a 30% jump in the number of Australian's visiting the South Pacific destination in Jul compared to last year, with arrivals up to 2,450.

Aussie numbers for the FY were up 4% to 24,644, bumping off American Samoa to be Samoa's 2nd largest overseas source, but still some 33,000 visitors behind that of New Zealand.

Overall growth was up just 0.7% for the financial year, to 129,000.

QH NYC 10,000 bonus

QANTAS Holidays is offering pax booking an air & accommodation package to New York a bonus 10,000 Frequent Flyer points, for travel between 01 Feb-31 Mar.

The extra points deal is only available until 25 Oct.

Window Seat

GLOBAL roaming goes mad.

A US woman has received a US$201,000 mobile phone bill after her brothers downloaded lots of videos during a recent trip to Canada.

Celina Aarons' siblings, who share her plan, are both deaf and rely heavily on texting and mobile internet to communicate.

During their recent holiday they were apparently unaware of extortionate global roaming data charges, racking up bills of more than US$2000 per session.

Phone provider T-Mobile has stepped in on compassionate grounds, agreeing to slash the whopping bill to just $2500.

THE voting campaign for the New Seven Wonders of Nature is approaching a climax, with tourism bodies around the world urging a last minute push in the lead-up to the final deadline of 11th Nov 2011.

However a special map on the voting site at new7wonders.com reveals some geographic difficulties - particularly when it comes to Australasian entrants.

Tracking the voting in recent days, candidate attractions are highlighted in either red or green depending on the trends - but unfortunately shows that New Zealand's spectacular Milford Sound is actually located in Tasmania (below).

THE Travel Industry Mentor Experience (TIME) is on a high after the very successful Graduation of Program Three earlier this month.

The nine Mentees who graduated spoke very highly of the program and the need for leadership, knowledge and guidance in their travel careers.

The stories of their six month journey on the program highlighting their learning, growth and expansion in their current roles were inspirational for everyone present.

Such success is all due to Mentors who give their expertise freely to the TIME Program.

The new intake of Mentees, Program Five, who were inducted on 29 Sep, were excited and keen to commence their fortnightly meetings with their Mentors.

TIME is currently working on creating an Alumni group of all graduated Mentees.

The Alumni will be advocates for the program and will encourage other Mentees to join as well as network on the new TIME website launched this week at travelindustrymentor.com.au.

The new site has a calendar of events, blog and many other features that are relevant to the industry today.

A year on from the launch of TIME the Industry is in good hands with graduates of the program.

The TIME program is encouraging more business focussed leaders and retaining the talented people we already have in the industry.

GLOBETROTTER Corporate Travel has appointed Christine Zeuschner as part time Client Relationship Manager, based in Melbourne.

Inbound arrivals to top 6.5m in 2015

THE strength of the Australian dollar over the past two years has resulted in a negative impact on the country's tourism industry's price competitiveness, a Irish report has stated.

The Research & Markets report on Australia Tourism Q4 2011 released this week in Dublin, says tourism growth locally prior to 2009 was helped by the weakness of the AUD$.

That, coupled with the global recession in 2009, raised Australia's price competitiveness from major source markets, such as the UK and NZ, the report said.

According to the report, about 1/4 of all arrivals are business travellers, with 1.47m expected to arrive in 2011, and 3.21m will arrive for leisure purposes.

BMI forecasts tourist arrivals to exceed 5.7 million by this year, and for that figure to keep rising to nearly 6.5 million by 2015.

Although tourism expenditure had fallen during the GFC, the report estimates levels in 2010 have surpassed those in 2008, to US$32.13 billion.

And while tourism expenditure in 2011 may be behind that of last year (BMI forecasts the figure to be around US$31.22b), by 2015 it may be as high as $47.1b.

MSC pledges NZ$1m

MSC Cruises will donate NZ$1m to the clean up of New Zealand's Bay of Plenty as an act of good will following the container ship Rena's accident last week and the subsequent environmental disaster taking place now.

Although the vessel shares the cruise line's name, it was not responsible for its maintenance, operation or crew.

APT Rocks agents in Canada

ABOVE: APT hosted this group of 28 agents on a recent 10-day famil through the Canadian Rockies, with the West Coast itinerary including two-days on the iconic Rocky Mountaineer between Jasper and Vancouver.

The trip also gave agents the chance to see Whistler, Banff and Lake Louise, while staying in some fabulous landmark hotels.

They also got to experience the Banff Gondola up Sulphur Mountain, take in an aerial view of the Rockies by helicopter, travel the Icefields Parkway and journey up Athabasca Glacier onboard the Ice Explorer, and trek into Maligne Canyon.

AA int'l curb check-in AMERICAN Airlines will begin offering Curbside Check-In service to pax travelling on international flights, including to destinations that require a visa from Nov.

The service will enable AA pax to check-in online, then on arrival at the airport drop their luggage at the curbside counters and then proceed to security check-points.

"The new service offers a seamless transition from booking to boarding," said AA's Tom Del Valle, senior vp Airport Services.

The Qantas Joint Business Agreement partner has previously offered the service domestically at its hubs in Los Angeles, Dallas/Fort Worth, Chicago, Miami and New York's JFK airports.

Another 31 US markets will also offer the new service.

Singapore visits rise

THE number of Aussie travellers heading to Singapore in Aug has risen by more than 5% to 72,000 people compared to the corresponding period last year.

According to the latest stats from Singapore Tourism Board, the figure has helped prop up Jan-Aug numbers from Australia, which are now at 631,000 - 10% higher year on year.

Across all markets, arrivals to Singapore are up 15.5% to 8.8m.

Qantas/LAN codeshare questioned

QANTAS' planned codeshare alliance with LAN Airlines on its new Sydney-Santiago service has been met with objection by a concerned member of the public.

The anonymous person told the International Air Services Comm. on Wed that QF's proposed seat allocation variation on the Chile route will ultimately lead to reduced capacity in the future.

"There has been a recent trend for both Qantas & Virgin Australia to enter into codeshare arrangements with foreign airlines that already operate routes in Australia," the person said, citing recent tie ups between Virgin and Air NZ, Etihad & Delta, and Qantas & South African Airways.

"Effectively these arrangements result in a duplication of services by the foreign carrier" that leads to a reduction or withdrawal of their own services by depending on the codeshare, resulting in less seats, a drop in demand and price increase, the person claims.

CWT 2012 forecast

CARLSON Wagonlit Travel says prices in most geographic areas and for most categories of spend are likely to rise in 2012, based on its 2012 Global Travel Forecast.

The analysis looks at supplier prices for airlines, hotels, ground transportation and meetings and events spend worldwide.

Travel buyers in most parts of the world are facing tough negotiations as the landscape increases in complexity, says Nick Vournakis, vp CWT Solutions Grp.

"At the same time, economic uncertainty continues in some parts of the world and has resurfaced in others, prompting increasing questions on exactly what 2012 holds in store for organisations and, by extension, for business travel," he said.
