WA targets development

WESTERN Australian investors and developers will be incentivised to build new hotels and develop tourism & economic infrastructure by the state govt in a bid to curb a "severe shortage of hotel rooms" in the capital, said WA Minister for Tourism, Kim Hames.

"Despite a significant and sustained increase in occupancy and room rates there has been minimal hotel investment in Perth and parts of regional WA since 2006," Hames said this morning.

The Minister said a shortage of hotels rooms in Perth was hampering "WA's ability to successfully attract corporate and leisure visitors, major conferences and events, increase aviation capacity, and disperse travel throughout the state."

A new supply of short stay accommodation is "urgently required, Hames said.

Crown land incentives include release for hotel projects, longer term leases for short stay accom projects, concessional lease payments, discounted land values, allocating funds for the provision of infrastructure upgrades to facilitate hotel accom development, and leasing at 'peppercorn rates'.

Keen interest in NLK tender

AIRBUS A320 aircraft are being considered for flights to Norfolk Island by at least one party interested in the government's tender for NLK flights (TD 07 Oct).

There have been frequent updates to the tender documents in recent days, as the dept of Regional Australia responds to a series of questions from bidders.

Several queries relate to the ability of Norfolk Island airport to handle A320 aircraft and 180 passengers per movement.

There's also significant interest in the activities of Norfolk Island Tourism in the Australian market, revealing that the organisation has a direct local advertising budget of $300,000.

An industry briefing held last week detailed the requirements of the proposed services, incl a minimum of three return weekly flights and the desirability of operating from at least two Australian east coast cities.

Tenderers are also asked to offer GDS published fares and interline arrangements, and show that they can "assist the Norfolk Island Government reach its tourism potential".

Current Australian A320 operators include Jetstar, Tiger, Strategic Airlines and Skywest.

QF extends BKK policy

QANTAS yesterday updated its waiver of conditions due to flooding in Thailand, with the new policy allowing passengers to make alternative arrangements if holding tickets for travel to/from Bangkok up to and including 31 Oct 2011.

No fees will be charged for rebooking, rerouting, changing destinations or retaining tickets in credit for future travel.

MEANWHILE DFAT has advised of the closure of Bangkok's Don Muang Airport due to flooding.

Domestic airline Nok Air has cancelled all Don Muang flights until 31 Oct, while other carriers have also been affected, according to the updated DFAT advisory.

New Uluru dining experience

AYERS Rock Resort has announced the launch of 'Tali Wiru,' a unique dining experience for just 20 visitors at a time.

The product is the latest evolution of the iconic Red Centre product, after the sale of Voyages to Indigenous Tourism Australia earlier this year (TD 23 May).

Tali Wiru includes French Champagne and canapes before a four course dune-top dinner under the stars, paired with selected Aussie wines.

After the meal a local storyteller "shares celestial creation stories" while coffee, tea and dessert wine is served.

The new experience launches on 01 Apr 2012 and costs $295pp ($5015 for exclusive use); kids under 12 aren't catered for.

JTG sells HWT agency

HARVEY World Travel in Gordon, NSW is no longer a company-owned store, with a Travel Compensation Fund update today confirming that the outlet has been sold by Stella Travel Services (Australia) Pty Ltd.

The new owner is a company called Singleton Travel Pty Ltd.

Other TCF changes advised include the sale of Britain and Europe World Travel in Phillip, ACT and the closure of Dragon Bus China in Pyrmont, NSW which has ceased trading as a travel agent.

IHG flags new brand

INTERCONTINENTAL Hotels Group has revealed plans to launch a new mid-priced hotel chain in the USA early next year.

Speaking during IHG's annual conference in Las Vegas, the firm's US chief Kirk Kinsell said the move will focus on "mainstream, high-frequency travellers".

He said the addition wouldn't compete with IHG's Holiday Inn, Holiday Inn Express and Hotel Indigo brands, but would give developers the option of building more US hotels and keep their portfolios within the IHG family.

KE boost for SYD, BNE

SEOUL Incheon-based carrier Korean Air is bolstering capacity to Sydney and Brisbane from 01 Jul to 25 Aug next year, according to travel agent GDS displays.

KE's Sydney route will see three new weekly frequencies added, up from daily to 10 weekly, while Brisbane will receive one extra weekly flight, up to six weekly.

Window Seat

A US flyer is set to make even more history by taking one of the coveted seats on today's ANA Boeing 787 inaugural.

Los Angeles-based Thomas Lee holds the unique distinction of being the only person who was on the world's first 747 flight in 1970, as well as the Singapore Airlines A380 debut in 2007.

ANA made just 100 maiden flight seats available to members of the public, and gave priority to its top level frequent flyers living within Japan.

However Lee said he "pleaded his case" to the carrier, which agreed to let him be on board.

"I think they saw the opportunity to let me continue the dream," he said.

The long-awaited historic first commercial flight will operate today from Narita to Hong Kong.

MEANWHILE ANA will also make a charity donation, after auctioning off six pairs of business class seats on the inaugural flight on eBay.

One pair fetched US$34,000 - about 13 times the normal business class fare on the route.

TAIWANESE carrier Eva Air had to up gauge capacity on its flight to Brisbane yesterday to make room for some very special passengers.

Normally Eva Air operates an Airbus A330-200 on the route, but instead flew a Boeing 747-400 jumbo for the special flight which as well as a normal passenger and cargo load, carried four koalas on their way to a zoo in Taipei.

10% more Aussies to NZ

THE 2011 Rugby World Cup has spurred a 10.1% year on year rise in Australians travelling to New Zealand during Sep, according to Tourism NZ statistics.

The figures released yesterday show 105,792 Aussies headed across the ditch last month, with the figure helping to boost NZ's year end total to 1.123 million, up 0.1% on the corresponding period 12 months earlier.

Month end holiday traffic surged 15.6% to 51,920.

Traffic from the United Kingdom to New Zealand rose the highest among major source markets, up 127% during the month to 19,456 movements, boosting month end holiday traffic 177%.

More black NZ planes

AIR New Zealand has extended its pact with the country's rugby team for a further 4 years which will see the carrier paint five more aircraft 'all black', including three turbo-props and its next 777-300ER to be delivered in Jan.

P&O predicts massive Pacific swell

THE cruise industry must work to ensure that Pacific Island communities are able to share in its economic benefits, according to P&O Cruises' 2010 Sustainability Report released today.

The report forecasts that in 2013 more than 250,000 travellers will cruise in the region, with P&O and Princess together

Compass earlybirds

COMPASS Cars are reminding agents that its earlybird deals of 2011 prices for 2012 UK car hire pick ups are due to expire on 31 Oct - compasscarrental.com.au.

accounting for almost 80%.

"The traditional business model of taking visitors to the Pacific Islands and then simply taking them back home again is unsustainable in the long term as bigger ships and more cruises bring many more tourists to the islands," said Carnival Australia ceo Ann Sherry.

Today's report highlights a range of initiatives being undertaken by Carnival Australia, including actively recruiting Pacific Islands crew to support a target of 10% local staff by 2019.

Carnival is also supporting local tourism ventures at Mystery Island, Champagne Bay and the Isle of Pines, along with helping with the cost of infrastructure.

By 2020 cruise ship visits are expected to contribute $100m in direct spending in the region - see the full report at bit.ly/poreport.

Insight gets definitive

INSIGHT Vacations has today reported a strong response to its Gold program for Europe & Britain in 2012, with all departures scheduled for the Elegance of Athens, Mykonos and Santorini now 100% guaranteed.

MD Lorraine Sharp said the Gold program had been "an enormous success for Insight Vacations and demand for this deluxe and hassle-free style of holiday continues to grow".

There are 10 Gold itineraries in Insight's Europe/Britain program plus five in the 2012 USA and Canada brochure, which for the first time features the new offering.

China Airlines joins the Team

SKYTEAM welcomed China Airlines as the 15th member of its global airline alliance at a function in Sydney last night after a rigorous audit before it met entry requirements.

The Taipei-based carrier operates four weekly A330 services ex-SYD to Taipei, moving to 5 next month, plus 3 weekly flights ex-BNE and also ex-BNE to AKL.

SkyTeam now has a total of 6 online carriers in the Australian market which will increase to 8 by June next year.

"We applied for membership 4 years ago after seeing the many benefits of being in SkyTeam, and we had to work very hard to meet strict rules before we were finally admitted," said S.C. Hsieh, China Airlines General Manager Australia & New Zealand.

The Australian SkyTeam co-ordinator, Rafael Despradel who is also the Sales & Marketing Manager for Korean Air in Aust. said the newest member heralded an exciting time for the alliance.

"The inclusion of China Airlines into our network will solidify SkyTeams unrivalled presence in the Greater China market, as well as enlarging the sharing of resources and giving travellers greater access to more destinations around the world," said Despradel.

AFTA UPDATE

The latest insights from AFTA's Chief Executive, Jayson Westbury

WELL just to follow on a little from last week's column, all our congratulations have to go to New Zealand on winning the Rugby World Cup 2011. It was a great game and a fantastic outcome for a nation that really needed some good news.

Also, we should be very proud of the Australian team for closing out the match to be awarded the bronze medal. So it's all over now till 2015 in which London, after hosting the Olympics next year should be very well placed to put on a world class event the likes enjoyed in NZ.

Meanwhile the travel industry continues to face a bucket of challenges. The ongoing Qantas dispute, while on hold for a little while, still needs to find a solution to give the Australian traveller and the travel industry greater certainty and no doubt Qantas wants this also. It is good that the travel industry and the Australian travellers continue to support Qantas at this time.

In addition to that we now find that customs staff are going to have a dispute and a strike. No doubt that will cause more inconvenience and hassle for everyone travelling. Having recently been at an international level aviation conference, it's really sad how the world is looking at Australia – and just laughing at us.

When tourism both inbound and outbound are so important to the Australian economy and so many people are employed in this industry across Australia you have to wonder at what point this has to stop.

Moreover you have to wonder when the Australian Government genuinely considers the international impact that these types of protracted issues present. Also corporate travellers are the people that in the end are most impacted by these types of disruptions as they have to travel in order to do business.

And the travel agents become the middle man in all of this and are faced with dealing with the upset and angry customers that have their plans disrupted. Natural disasters are one thing which we have all become conditioned to, but manmade disaster are another story altogether.

AW agents head to France

ABOVE: Adventure World and Air Austral set out on a walking Headwater adventure in Luberon, France recently with this lucky group of travel agents.

Kuoni cuts web saving

SWISS-owned travel juggernaut Kuoni has announced a review of its online discount strategy which will see the phased removal of a 5% 'book online' saving offered to consumers booking holiday packages on its UK website.

The change means prices for Kuoni packages will be level if booking via the web, in stores or at independent agent partners.

EK peak surcharge

EMIRATES this morning advised travel agents of a peak season 'Q' surcharge which will apply to all destinations ex Australia except for New Zealand.

The $50 fee will apply on the outbound journey for both one way and return economy class fares, for sales effective on/after next Mon 31 Oct and travel between 03-23 Dec 2011.

The 'Q' surcharge will appear in the fare line of the auto priced itinerary, and existing bookings must be ticketed by 30 Oct to avoid the additional impost.

Airbus on FJ switch

AIRCRAFT manufacturer Airbus has welcomed Air Pacific's switch of its long-haul fleet from Boeing aircraft to its A330-200s, revealed in Travel Daily yesterday.

Air Pacific made the surprise move after cancelling an order for a fleet of eight 787 Dreamliner aircraft earlier this year.

"We look forward to being part of their development & growth," said Airbus coo John Leahy.

Kerala on show in Sydney

COME to Kerala - Ex-Beatle Sir Paul McCartney once referred to the Indian state as "Truly God's Own Country."

That was the message Kerala Tourism had for the industry at its Sydney roadshow last night where agents came to learn more about the destination.

Kerala is India's southern-most state on the Arabian Sea, and with a population of 13 million and a coastline stretching some 600 kilometres, it is one of the ten paradises of the world, according to National Geographic Traveller.

"Kerala is off the beaten track and it's becoming Asia's fastest growing hotspot," said T.K. Manoj J Kumar, Director of Tourism.

He said Kerala is known for its golden beaches and a network of tranquil backwaters and canals that make it the Venice of the East, and the best way to see them is on a houseboat that can carry up to 2 to 3 families, or smaller vessels for 1 or 2 people.

"We're also a wellness destination and we're the only place in the world where the holistic system of herbal medicine based on nature called Ayurveda is practised to perfection," said Kumar.

"It's good for getting you back in shape and great for the treatment of old age ailments."

JQ confirms VN talks

JETSTAR ceo Bruce Buchanan has confirmed speculation of a restructure of its Jetstar Pacific offshoot in Vietnam.

The carrier is in talks with officials in the country which would see a government-owned 70% stake in the domestic airline transferred to the nation's flag carrier, Vietnam Airlines.

Under the plan Qantas would also increase its holding from the current 27% to 30%, but Buchanan stressed that there was still "a lot of water to go under the bridge with these discussions."

If the proposal comes to fruition it would enable VN and Jetstar Pacific to pursue a "two-brand" strategy in the Vietnamese market, similar to the way Qantas and Jetstar operate in Australia.
