Tourism key in disaster plans

THE Australian govt has agreed to advance cooperation to include tourism as an "integral element of national resilience and disaster management planning," with the move a key outcome of the first ever United Nations World Tourism Organisation meeting to be held in Australia.

Taking place in Mt Macedon on the outskirts of Melbourne last weekend, the UNWTO event saw 36 participants from Australia, NZ, Malaysia, Japan, the UK and the UNWTO head office in Spain.

The high level event focused on emergency management, looking at the outcomes of a range of recent crises which impacted on tourism including the Qld and Vic floods, the Japanese tsunami, the Christchurch earthquakes and the uprising in Egypt.

Organiser David Beirman from Sydney's University of Technology said it was the world's first conference ever to deal with the integration of govt, emergency management and tourism.

"It's been a highlight of my professional career," he said.

LCCs drive passenger growth

MELBOURNE and Perth Airport owner Australian Infrastructure Fund has acknowledged the rise of low cost carriers for assisting to fuel strong passenger growth at both hubs in the past year.

The AIX Annual Report released this week showed that in 2010/11 Perth Airport saw 9.4% year-on-year pax growth, driven by capacity increases on Malaysia and Thailand routes.

There was a 7.8% increase in pax traffic at Melbourne Airport due to new Asian flights from Royal Brunei and Strategic, along with other existing airlines adding new capacity and routes.

Int'l traffic alone grew 9.1% at Perth and 13.5% at Melbourne.

CEO Jeff Pollock said at both airports the ongoing penetration of low-cost carriers had been a key factor, along with resources demand and new Asian routes driven by the strong A$.

Elsewhere, AIX's reported a 4.8% pax growth on its Qld portfolio (Gold Coast, Townsville & Mount Isa), despite "external shocks" such as the floods and cyclones.

NT Airports (Darwin, Alice Springs & Tennant Creek) reported a 6.9% gain in pax numbers in 2010/11, but saw a 6.4% drop in numbers at Alice Springs Airport, "reflecting weak tourist demand" from the domestic and Japanese markets, Pollock added.

But Darwin Airport reported a strong 19.4% spike in int'l traffic "driven by the popularity of low-cost services to South-East Asian destinations, particularly Bali."

Travel Policy 'more a guideline'

ALMOST half of the businesses responding to the first ever Asia Pacific Travel Policy Study said that their company travel policies were a guideline that staff should observe, rather than a mandate - and 11% of the respondents had no written travel policy at all.

The survey, conducted in May and Jun this year, was undertaken jointly by the Expedia-owned TMC Egencia (which owns Sydney-based Traveforce) along with the Global Business Travel Association.

410 Asia-Pacific based travel managers responded, from companies ranging in travel spend from $250,000 to $5m a year.

Intriguing findings from the survey included that just 31% of Asia-Pacific buyers are tracking the rising tide of ancillary fees such as baggage charges, in-flight meals and in-flight internet.

More than half (52%) of travel managers in the region do not authorise business class air travel to any destination, but those who do primarily allow premium travel on long-haul flights.

The study also looked at policy standards around "lowest logical fares," with 40% including time windows in their policy requiring staff to consider lower fare alternatives before or after their preferred departure time, and 26% mandating the use of connections where savings are available.

The survey can be downloaded free at bit.ly/tdpolicysurvey.

QantasLink Qld boost

QANTASLINK this morning announced that two additional 105-seat Boeing 717 aircraft will be based in Brisbane from early next year, as part of a significant boost to the airline's Queensland capacity (TD breaking news).

Executive Manager, Narendra Kumar, also announced a range of network expansions including a new twice weekly Townsville to Moranbah service, "to provide customers with seamless connections to Cairns and between Far North Queensland and the Bowen Basin coal fields".

From 17 Oct QFLink will boost frequencies and capacity on routes incl Moranbah-Brisbane, Emerald-Brisbane, Cairns-Weipa, Roma-Brisbane and a new direct service to Charleville.

Kumar also confirmed a new Emerald Qantas Regional Lounge.

Qld tourism minister Jan Jarratt said the new services "will be fantastic for people in our resource centres and they will also serve to open up regions to new tourism opportunities".

Window Seat

BRISBANE Airport has eschewed the familiar charity golf day as a networking fundraiser, and will instead next week run its second annual Corporate Surf Challenge.

Participants will don board shorts and rashies instead of plus-fours, with a highlight being the attendance of world surfing champion Mark Occhilupo who will be auctioned off as a member of one of the teams.

"Whacking a golf ball around has been a staple corporate activity for years, so, given we're surrounded by some of the most stunning beaches in the world, we thought we'd up the ante and take the battle to the beach," said BNE's Rachel Crowley.

The surf-off will take place on the Gold Coast on Fri 07 Oct.

ICONIC ski resort Breckenridge in the USA is celebrating everything fifty in a special 50 Days of Giveaways incentive.

The upcoming winter season will be Breckenridge's 50th, and free prizes are up for grabs every day on its Facebook page until the 01 Nov official opening.

The Travel Daily team joined the diamond jubilee party, receiving the tasty morsel at right yesterday to help with the celebrations.

Needless to say, we were on a spectacular sugar high for the rest of the day.

Virgin Australia most punctual in Aug

VIRGIN Australia achieved the best on time performance for both departures and arrivals of major domestic airlines in Aug.

Virgin had 86.4% of its flights leave within 15mins of their scheduled departure, and had 84.4% arrive on time.

Qantas wasn't far behind with 84.8% and 83.1% respectively, followed by Jetstar on 77.5/78.1%.

Regional Express outperformed DJ on departures, with 87.8% of services getting away on time.

Tiger Airways achieved one of its best on time performances on record in Aug, albeit on just 228 flights between 12-31 Aug, with 94.3% departing on time and 93.4% arriving on time.

By comparison, DJ operated 11,922 flights and QF 10,444.

The Gold Coast-Adelaide route was the most reliable point-to-point, operating on time at 95.1%, while Port Lincoln, SA was the top airport for on-time departure of flights which left on schedule 92.9% of the time.

Jetstar recorded the highest percentage of cancellations in Aug, with 2.6% (or 149 flights), and Regional Express the least, excluding Tiger, at 0.2%.

The Sunshine Coast-Sydney, Sunshine Coast-Melbourne and Canberra-Sydney routes had the highest number of cancellations - a total of 43 services.

ODYSSEY Travel has a small group Winter Odyssey tour that visits Prague, Vienna & Budapest, taking in musical performances and architectural gems enroute.

The 21-day tour departs on 26 Dec and includes a stay in a genuine countryside castle and a New Year's Dinner in Vienna.

The trip through Southern Bohemia is priced at $11,650ppts - more at odysseytravel.com.au.

WA agents go to Spain

RIGHT: Spain

Tourism in association with Rail Plus and Singapore Airlines hosted a selected invitation-only group of top Perth travel agents at a special event last week.

Attendees were educated and inspired on travel to Spain, with easy access on SQ's Barcelona services and the ability to conveniently explore the whole country by comfortable high speed rail.

Aussies spend up big

AUSTRALIANS are the biggest travel spenders worldwide, doling out US$3636 each on their last trip, according to the latest Visa Global Travel Intentions Survey.

Over the next two years Aussies are expected to continue the trend, with a projected average of US$3582 budgeted - more than double the US$1481 expected global average of trip spending.

DJ/DL code renewal

VIRGIN Australia has received a green light from US authorities to renew its codeshare partnership with Delta Air Lines for a further 2 year period, until 26 Sep 2013.

The US Dept of Transportation approval permits Virgin Australia to display the DL code on all flights that it currently operates, or may in the future operate, between points within Australia.

Pacific Blue Airlines Australia & New Zealand also won approval for a two year extension to have Delta's two-letter code on flights between NZ points & NZ-Australia (PBNZ) and from Australia to third countries (PBA).

Nth Ireland APD cut

THE UK government has reduced its controversial Air Passenger Duty on long-haul flights from Belfast in Northern Ireland, to help the destination better compete against Irish Republic routes where taxes are lower.

Airlines have hailed the move as recognition that the punitive APD is damaging tourism across the UK, with many travellers choosing to fly into nearby European cities to save money.

From 01 Nov APD at Belfast will reduce to the lower short-haul rate of £12 for economy and £24 for premium passengers - compared to £3 for Dublin flights.

NZ charter to Sydney

AIR NZ yesterday afternoon added more capacity for New Zealanders to get to Sydney in time to see the Warriors play against the Sea Eagles in the NRL Grand Final on Sun, with two 747s to operate on Fri and Sat.

Groups general manager Bruce Parton said the first jumbo charter service sold out in an hour, while the second flight was full within six minutes.

"Unfortunately we don't have the aircraft to be able to offer a third charter, but our team has been frantically busy... rejigging our schedules and aircraft to make as many seats as we can available to Sydney".

MEANWHILE footy fans are also heading in the other direction, with Qantas announcing four extra trans-Tasman A330 services this weekend for Rugby World Cup and NRL fans - in addition to the previously announced 737 supplementaries (TD yesterday).

$400 off in Africa

BENCH International is discounting its six night package at Makutsi Safari Springs in South Africa by up to $400, when booked by 31 Dec for select travel periods between 15 Jan and 25 Mar 2012 - 1800 221 451.

Oaks to remain Oaks

THAILAND'S Minor Hotel Group has confirmed there are no plans in place to switch its recently acquired portfolio of Australian Oaks Hotels & Resorts under the new Avani Hotels & Resorts branding (TD Fri).

"I don't know what the future holds, but it's certainly not part of the Avani development projection at this point," Group Director of PR for Minor Hotel Group Marion Walsh-Hedouin told Travel Daily.

QF change fee rises

QANTAS is reminding agents that its change fee for Domestic Red-e-Deal fares has increased by $5 to $60 (incl GST) effective today, regardless of issue date.

US Tahoe ski merger

THE Californian ski resorts of Squaw Valley and Alpine Meadows have announced a merger, and will offer combined season passes and lift tickets for the 2011-12 winter season.

Located on the northern side of Lake Tahoe, the resorts are about a 10 minute drive apart.

The move follows last year's acquisition of Squaw Valley by KSL Capital Partners - the same company which is the majority owner of Australia's Orion Expedition Cruises.

A new Tahoe Super Pass will be priced from US$439 for adults, with an unrestricted season pass for both resorts costing US$799.

There's also a new Tahoe Super Six for US$399, providing six unrestricted days of skiing - for details see www.squaw.com.
