SQ CBR gains more feed

SINGAPORE Airlines has adjusted the times of its 'Capital Express' service from Singapore to Canberra and Wellington, aiming to increase feeder traffic opportunities on the route.

Effective 28 Oct, timings will be bumped forward by about an hour, with the later departure from SIN providing connections on the 10-month old route out of Bali, Hanoi, Ho Chi Minh City, Hong Kong, Kuala Lumpur, Manila, Phuket and Shanghai, SQ regional vp South West Pacific Tan Tiow Kor said yesterday.

Tan said the Capital Express route had met expectations in terms of loads, adding that the revised timings were forecast to lead to improved efficiency.

"Re-timing the flights will assist in this goal, while providing additional connections from the Singapore Airlines global network to SQ291," Tan added.

The new schedule sees SQ291 depart SIN 55 minutes later, resulting in a later arrival in Canberra and on the connecting flight to Wellington.

SQ292 from WLG will depart 1hr and 5min earlier, resulting in an earlier arrival into CBR and SIN.

Singapore Airlines said it would work with customers whose domestic connections in Australia were affected by the adjusted flight timings on the services.

NSW Airbnb review

THE NSW Government has called for community and stakeholder feedback as part of its review of short-term letting websites like Airbnb and Stayz.

The call follows the release of an options paper on the issue and is part of a process to determine how the state might regulate the sites and their users.

"This industry has been prominent in NSW for many years and can provide significant economic benefits to local economies and the wider state tourism economy," Innovation Minister Matt Kean said.

"However, we need to reconsider the role of regulation in enabling this activity to continue to take place, without undue impact on existing local communities or visitors."

Accommodation provider associations have been critical of the options paper and have called for tighter controls.

IATA advances EasyPay

THE International Air Transport Association (IATA) has moved forward in the development of its EasyPay system for travel agents, choosing two payment service providers roll-out the scheme across 100 markets.

Part of the New Generation of IATA Settlement Systems (NewGen ISS), EasyPay will be implemented in partnership with Edenred and Multiservice Technology Solutions (MSTS).

IATA has also chosen Featurespace to provide a risk management and fraud protection solution.

EasyPay is part of IATA's program to ensure the continued relevance of its Billing and Settlement Plan (BSP) and is expected to be piloted in Nordic countries during the third quarter.

"We are pleased to join with Edenred and MSTS to deliver IATA EasyPay which is a cornerstone of NewGen ISS," said IATA's senior vp of financial and distribution services Aleks Popovich.

"Working together, we will be able to provide a convenient pay-as-you-go option to more than 58,000 IATA-accredited travel agents, enabling them to take advantage of new and more efficient forms of electronic payments," he said.

IATA said its EasyPay system would provide greater payment flexibility and allow the introduction of a new and simpler form of agent accreditation.

Business as usual at AFTA agm

AFTA chairman Mike Thompson put in his usual stellar performance this morning, steering the Federation's annual general meeting at AFTA head office in Sydney.

Attendees passed the various motions without dissent, with the seven-minute meeting taking a little bit longer than usual.

Thompson noted that it was somewhat of a milestone for the organisation, being the 40th agm since AFTA became Limited by Guarantee, and its 60th anniversary overall.

He quipped that having checked the AFTA constitution he was confident that the existing directors were not subject to any requirement in regard to dual citizenship, in reference to the current nationality crisis engulfing the Greens political party.

Thompson also said he wanted to "take the occasion in a public forum to acknowledge and recognise the efforts and contribution of the ceo and staff at AFTA".

Following the agm a board meeting re-elected Thompson as AFTA chairman, while Graham Turner of Flight Centre and Christian Hunter from Travellers Choice are vice-chairs.

Abella Trvl in court

MELBOURNE-BASED travel agency Abella Travel Pty Ltd has been taken to court in Victoria over an alleged 'cash back' visa scheme it was operating.

According to a News Corp report based on court documents, the agency forced a South Korean worker to pay back more than $20,000 from her wages in return for her 457 visa sponsorship.

The employee was alleged to have paid the company between $289 and $387 in cash each week for around a year in return for her visa, the documents show.

Another Korean national was also caught up in the scheme.

Abella has backpaid the workers $6,506, but more than $31,800 remains outstanding, the Herald Sun reported yesterday.

Air France names budget carrier Joon

AIR France's Boost project has sprung to life in the name of Joon.

Joon will start to operate medium-haul flights from Paris-Charles de Gaulle in the northern autumn, followed by long-haul flights in summer 2018.

The budget airline is aimed at young working clientele (aged 18 to 35) whose lifestyle revolves around digital technology.

Air France emphasised Joon would not be a low-cost airline as it would offer original products and services that reflected those of Air France.

Window Seat

A BABOON in Zambia has turned the tourist town of Livingstone into total darkness after tampering with equipment at a hydro-electric power station.

Livingstone is a hub for tourists visiting the world famous Victoria Falls and the many national parks and game reserves in the wider region.

Officials from the state electricity company said it was rare for animals to wander into the plant.

The baboon suffered an electric shock but fortunately survived the ordeal.

In a similar incident last year to our sneaky friend the baboon, a monkey caused a nationwide blackout in Kenya

Canada visitation

ARRIVALS into Canada continue to increase, with the latest Canadian government figures for May 2017 showing a 23.9% increase from Australia.

Over 40,000 Australians visited Canada in May, compared to 32,000 in May 2016.

NZ tourist numbers rose 10.4% in May to 6,088, up 500 on last year.

Visitation from much of Europe had declined ahead of the busy summer period.

So far this year, Australian arrivals are also up 23.9%.

Xmas in Jul a hit at TIEC

LAST night the travel industry gathered at Luna Park for a very festive travelBulletin Christmas in July celebration as part of the Travel Industry Exhibition & Conference (TIEC) in Sydney.

The event posed the opportunity to win oodles of great prizes awarded to the best responses sent through to the Travel Industry Exhibition this week.

The major prize on the night went to Michael Davis-Smith of Cruiseabout, who won an 18-day combination tour package visiting Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan and Iran courtesy of Silk Road Travel.

Davis-Smith took out the competition with his entry of: "Travelling introduces me to various cultures with different perspectives to my own. I become a better person. No matter how far I roam a new adventure and spiritual moment awaits."

Next week the TIEC will head to Melbourne for round two.

Travel price rise forecast

WORLD travel costs are predicted to rise sharply next year as inflation and oil prices hit all sectors of the industry, according to a report by Carlson Wagonlit Travel (CWT).

The travel management company says air costs, hotels and ground transport are all set for price hikes, with increases of almost 4% likely in some sectors.

In its fourth annual Global Travel Forecast in conjunction with the Global Business Travel Association Foundation, CWT says global airfares are expected to rise 3.5% in 2018, hotel prices are expected to be 3.7% higher and ground transportation such as taxis, trains and buses are expected to rise 0.6%.

"The higher pricing is a reflection of the stronger economy and growing demand," said CWT ceo Kurt Ekert.

"The global numbers from this forecast should be considered strong leading indicators of what 2018 will mean for global businesses, as we anticipate higher spending," he said.

SkyBus tix via QBT

QBT'S corporate and government customers will soon be able to add Melbourne's SkyBus airport transport service to their travel itineraries.

The corporate travel company has partnered with SkyBus to allow the integration of airport transport into itineraries alongside flights and other arrangements, via Amadeus.

The deal initially involves the Melbourne City express service between Tullamarine and the central business district and will be available for bookings by the end of the month.

Other services including the Avalon City Express and St Kilda Express will be added later.

QBT's group gm Nick Sutherland said the company's customers were increasingly asking for local content availability.

"They don't want to spend unnecessary time looking at all the extra add-ons associated with corporate travel, including airport transportation services," he said.

In the Asia Pacific region, airfares are likely to rise 2.8% as domestic fares increase, particularly in China and India.

Hotel prices in the region are tipped to go up 3.5%, but with large discrepancies among countries including a fall of 4.1% in Japan and a rise of almost 10% in New Zealand.

Europe is forecast to show some of the biggest price increases, CWT says, including air hikes of 7.1% in Eastern Europe and 5.5% in Western Europe, though currency fluctuations are likely to distort costs.

Europe's hotels are also likely to become more expensive next year, increasing by 6.6% in the east and 6.3% in the west.

US concerns remain

THE Association of Corporate Travel Executives (ACTE) has welcomed confirmation by the US that it has ended laptop bans on flights from the Middle East, but has renewed its pressure on the Trump administration over other travel policies.

ACTE executive director Greeley Koch said the lifting of the ban was heartening, but warned that other US policy burdens continued to impact travel.

"The (laptop) policy was insufficient as a standalone measure to address very real ongoing security threats, and did not take into account the need for travellers to maintain connectivity and productivity, especially for long intercontinental flights where being off the grid can lead to business interruption," he said.

Despite the ban's lifting, Koch said questions remained around policies including the travel and immigration bans affecting several Middle Eastern and North African countries.

"We'd hope that the Trump administration would seriously reconsider such policies, as well, and focus their resources and efforts on developing enhanced screening techniques and technologies that better serve travellers and provide the comprehensive security we need," he said.

CAPA Centre for Aviation today offers its latest exclusive infographic, presenting insight from its own data and external sources.

20 Year of International Travel to/from Australia

passengers transported

airlines servicing Australia

Australia's international aviation links have changed radically over the past two decades, though not always in ways that people might expect.

Passenger numbers have almost trebled, but the number of airlines serving Australia - which actually dropped in the middle of this period - is little changed from 20 years ago. However, the nature and nationality of the airlines has changed dramatically - almost all the European airlines which once served Australia have dropped out, and only British Airways remains with a once daily service to Sydney.

Australia's new role is well reflected in the profile of Asian airlines now serving this market and the expansion of the Gulf carriers.

The lightweight set will save QF 535,000 kg in fuel a year.

New GOC projects

THE Australian government has funded four projects as part of its plan to improve tourism on the Great Ocean Road.

A winery, a hotel, a wildlife sanctuary and a new chocolate cafe received a share in the federal funding.

The Wye Beach Hotel project will have $450,000 to expand its existing hotel and enable weddings, conferences and other events to take place.

Federal Minister for Trade, Tourism and Investment Steven Ciobo said the project would provide visitors to the region with a new range of experiences.

and paid by 31 Aug will win the Asia on Sale grand prize of return airfares for two to Penang, accommodation, transfers and sightseeing tours.

EK Moscow increase

EMIRATES will move to double daily A380 flights between Moscow and Dubai from 01 Oct.

EK133/EK134 will shift from the current Boeing 777 operations into the same three-class A380 that operates EK131/EK132 to Moscow Domodedovo.

The airline has also rejigged its flights from Saint Petersburg to Dubai, to depart later in the night from 29 Oct to 24 Mar, 2018.

Flights will now leave at 2355, instead of 1700.

APTMS recruits

Langton joins the team as bdm for Qld and WA.

Her portfolio will include Discover Hawaii Tours, Alamo Rent-A-Car and more.

Celebrity Interview

with Jean-Michel Cousteau

JEAN-MICHEL Cousteau is a French oceanographic explorer, environmentalist, educator, and film producer with over 70 credits to his repertoire. If his surname sounds familiar that's because he's also the first son of famed ocean explorer Jacques Cousteau. The eco-friendly resort bearing his name is located on the island of Savusavu in Fiji and Travel Daily caught up with him to discuss travel, education and protecting the world's oceans.

Describe your favourite childhood travel memory?

Every time I was out of school for a vacation we would fly to where my father and his team were on their ship RV Calypso but I will never forget the times that I was in the Amazon. I was so touched by the people.

What is your career highlight?

Being able to share with children the knowledge they need to have to take care of our life support system which happens to be the ocean.

What is your favourite holiday spot and why?

My favourite spot is Fiji, and it's not because of the resort with my name on it. It's because of the people; they are the nicest people on the planet. Every time I come back to Fiji it makes me happy.

What are your tips to travellers on travelling in a sustainable and eco-friendly way?

My tip is, if you are travelling in a sustainable way, to pass on your knowledge. Nature is the capital and it needs to be protected so that we can harvest the interests for future generations.

What is the key to making a successful documentary on the ### ocean?

It's to attract the attention of people and make them fascinated by what they see. Make them want to learn more about the ocean, how connected we are to it and the need to protect it.

What is one thing you cannot leave home without?

Material things for me are not interesting so it would be my guiding philosophy on life.

Your favourite French wine is?

I love Bordeaux region wines but did you know some of the best wines come from the vines that were exported from France to Chile? So I love Chilean wine too.

Who is the one person you wish you could sit next to on a plane?

Other than my better half it would be Don Walsh the American oceanographer who holds the record for descending to the deepest part of the ocean at some 35,000 feet.

Where are you planning on travelling to next?

I will be on the Paul Gauguin from Fiji to French Polynesia and then on the Mekong River with Aqua Expeditions.

Where would you like to travel to that you have yet to go?

I can go anywhere, as long as I can dive.

Jean-Michel Cousteau retail travel agent incentive.

For a limited time, agents who book clients at Jean-Michel Cousteau Resort Fiji for travel in Aug, Nov and between 01-20 Dec and 07 Jan-28 Mar will receive a $200 voucher. The incentive runs until 31 Aug.

IATA bag tracking

THE International Air Transport Association (IATA) and Airlines for America have launched a campaign aimed at reducing mishandled bags and increasing efficiency in baggage operations.

The move is ahead of the Jun 2018 rollout of a baggage tracking agreement between IATA and participating airlines.

The pact aims to see carriers able to track a bag when it is accepted at the airport, loaded onto the aircraft, transferred to the arrival system or put into the transfer system for carriage by another airline.

NT youth drive

TOURISM NT is targeting 18-35 year old domestic visitors in a social media campaign featuring Aussie comedians comparing the NT to Sydney and Melbourne.

The online videos will be promoted on the comedians' and Tourism NT's social media channels and on youth news and entertainment websites.

NT Minister for Tourism and Culture Lauren Moss said the push is a new approach to "help us stand out from the crowd and get young people thinking about a holiday in the Territory".
