Agent hacker pleads guilty

TASMANIAN travel agent Lee-Anne Levett, founder of Hobart agency The Travel Studio, yesterday pleaded guilty to 48 counts of “unauthorised access of a computer” in relation to using the Tramada logins of a competitor to gain access to sensitive business information (TD 04 Oct 2013).

Globus Gold Sponsor

THE Globus Family of Brands has signed on for the first Gold Sponsorship package for the 2018 AFTA Travel Pages, which is for the first time being produced by Travel Daily's parent firm the Business Publishing Group.

Globus national marketing manager Chris Fundell said he was delighted to support AFTA's only endorsed publication.

“Travel Pages is well-respected and widely read, providing a comprehensive year in review for the travel trade.

“It is a great way to connect with our industry partners and keep the Globus family of brands top of mind amongst the industry's best sellers,” he said.

Levett was accused of accessing the records of Andrew Jones Travel, in an attempt to gain an unfair advantage in the travel tender for the University of Tasmania between 2011 & 2013.

Crown prosecutor Jackie Hartnett said the Tramada system contained not only confidential Andrew Jones Travel documents, but also details of customers including addresses, phone numbers and credit card details.

Andrew Jones Travel and The Travel Studio were ultimately awarded the UTAS contract jointly and thereafter Levett continued to illegally access the Andrew Jones Tramada login in an attempt to boost market share.

The hearing continues today, with Levett disputing a number of the Crown facts.

Medallion on 3 more

PRINCESS Cruises' yet-to-launch wearable technology, the Ocean Medallion (TD 05 Jan), will be expanded to three more ships.

Golden Princess and Crown Princess will be fitted with the first-of-its-kind interactive tech platform in Nov next year, along with Ruby Princess in Jan 2019.

Ocean Medallion will debut aboard Regal Princess on 13 Nov this year, and then rolled out on Royal Princess (19 Jan 18), Caribbean Princess (18 Mar 18) and Island Princess (16 May 18).

Golden Princess sails in local waters from Oct 18 to Apr 19.

JD TAO/SYD setback

BEIJING Capital Airlines (JD) has pushed back its launch of planned services between Qingdao and Sydney by more than four weeks.

GDS displays show the tentative start date of JD's new twice weekly flights to SYD have been delayed from 09 Aug until 20 Sep.

AFTA chargeback solution

AFTA today launched the AFTA Insolvency Chargeback Scheme (AICS), described by ceo Jayson Westbury as solving "the missing link in the travel agency reform agenda" (TD breaking news).

The new scheme will partner with merchant providers - such as launch partner TravelPay - who will incorporate a small AICS component in the eligible credit/debit surcharge which is passed on to consumers under the Reserve Bank of Australia's card reforms effective from 01 Sep.

ATAS travel agents will be able to access the scheme, which will provide them with protection against chargebacks in the event of supplier failure, where the money has already been passed on to the travel provider.

"Since I came into this job nearly 10 years ago this issue has frustrated and concerned travel agents, and each time a supplier has collapsed the agent has been left holding the debt," he said.

"Now AICS resolves this matter once and for all, and it will come at next to no cost to the travel agent," Westbury added.

AICS will be ready to provide cover from 01 Aug, with the participating merchant providers also expected to offer better access to affordable credit card processing facilities.

Registrations of interest and more info at afta.com.au/aics.

GC18 accom search

HOLDERS of Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games tickets are being urged by Gold Coast Tourism (GCT) to get in early to secure accommodation during the event to avoid missing out.

To assist visitors in their search for accom options, Destination Gold Coast's website features an extensive listing, spanning hotels, caravan parks, motels, farm stays, cabins, retreats and more.

GCT ceo Martin Winter said the online directory allowed users to identify the best deals, especially for stays of five nights or more.

Visa boost for inbound

AUSTRALIA is set to welcome more visitors from Spain and Argentina after a Federal Government decision to raise caps on work and holiday visas.

The Government will also introduce an online visa lodgement process for visitors from India starting 01 Jul, creating a streamlined system in response to rising tourist numbers.

The measures have been welcomed by the Australian

Tourism Export Council (ATEC) which said it had actively lobbied for increases to visa caps.

“With the announcement of an increased 800 places for work and holiday visa places from Argentina, and 900 places from Spain, we thank the Government for listening and acting on the industry’s recommendations,” said ATEC md Peter Shelley.

The announcement coincided with a visit to Argentina by Foreign Affairs Minister Julie Bishop who said Argentinian visitors to Australia had increased 40% in the year to Mar.

MEANWHILE, the Minister for Trade, Tourism and Investment Steven Ciobo is this week visiting the US and Colombia to pursue tourism and trade opportunities for Australia.

Jetstar DPS increase

QANTAS has received approval for an extra 100 seats per week on Indonesia flights, granted by the Int’l Air Services Commission.

The increase will allow Jetstar to upgauge aircraft on Perth-Denpasar flights to Airbus A321s (TD 22 Jun), and may also be used in joint services with Emirates.

Indonesia roadshow

TWENTY hotels, villas and tour operators from Indonesia will visit Sydney and Brisbane next week on an Australian roadshow.

The Wonderful Indonesia Sales Mission will be held in Sydney on 04 Jul and Brisbane on 06 July.

Contact the Visit Indonesia Tourism Office in Sydney for full details - CLICK HERE.

CAPA Perth summit

CAPA Centre for Aviation will host its Perth Aviation & Corporate Travel Summit on Tue 04 Jul, with speakers including Perth Airport ceo Kevin Brown and AirAsia group head of corporate sales Barry Klipp.

Other speakers will include CWT senior director of global program management Marty Lonergan and CAPA executive chairman Peter Harbison.

The summit will be held at the Mercure Perth - see CAPA’s ad on page two for details.

MEL airport growth

MELBOURNE Airport posted increases in both domestic and international passengers during May, mirroring growth in Sydney and Brisbane (TD Fri).

International pax were up 7.8% over May last year, while domestic traffic was up 2%.

MEL ceo Lyell Strambi said increased traffic had been driven mainly by new int’l services.

“May delivered a full month of Virgin Australia’s Melbourne to Los Angeles service, which proved extremely popular,” Strambi said.

OREGON’S notorious weather offers no guarantees for those hoping to see the solar eclipse due to cross the US next month, so Alaska Airlines is taking matters into its own hands.

A special AS flight on 21 Aug will depart from the often-increment city of Portland to provide a view from 35,000ft.

The invitation-only flight doesn’t appear in GDS displays, but one person will win a seat via a social media competition.

MEANWHILE, in other places of darkness, Airbus is working with boffins at Darkside Scientific to create light-emitting paint for aircraft markings.

The electroluminescent paint (pictured) would be visible at long distances and through fog or rain, the companies said.

DNSW appointment

HELEN Parker has been named as the new manager, regional conferencing at Destination NSW, reporting to newly enlisted gm regional, Stephen Mahoney.

DNSW chief executive Sandra Chipchase said she was impressed with Parker's knowledge of regional NSW industries and the key linkages to developing conferencing opportunities for rural and regional areas.

Parker, who was most recently at Fairfax Events, will commence in the position at DNSW on 17 Jul.

Jetstar Pac A320ceos

QANTAS offshoot Jetstar Pacific has taken delivery of its first of 10 new Airbus A320ceo aircraft "as part of the airline's long-term goal to further expand its domestic & international footprint".

The plane is configured with 186 seats in an all Economy class cabin and V2500 IAE International Aero Engines.

Pruvo hotel shopping

ISRAELI start-up hotel booking platform Pruvo claims it will find travellers the lowest price possible for hotel rooms worldwide.

Pruvo is a free online service that requires a client to make a hotel reservation using their preferred method (hotel directly, travel agent, Booking.com, Hotels.com, Trivago, Expedia and others), so long as the property has a free cancellation option.

Customers then forward their hotel email confirmation to the company, which then starts a search to find a cheaper deal.

If Pruvo encounters a better price, the customer receives a notification with instructions to make the new booking and cancel their existing, more expensive reservation with the hotel.

Based on study results, Pruvo says 40% of the time it will find a better rate online.

Within its first year, Pruvo has saved travellers AUD$103,000.

See www.pruvo.net for details.

CHIVA-SOM International Health Resorts, Hua Hin Thailand will close down next year for three months, while the resort's multi-million dollar revamp kicks into full swing.

Speaking to Travel Daily, Chiva-Som head of sales, Pipatpong Tewit (pictured centre) said from May 2018 the resort would temporarily close, to not disturb guests' enjoyment of the facilities.

"We decided to close our doors, to ensure guests had the best experience, due to the amount of facilities that would be affected as our clients' health and wellness is key to us," he said.

The work is part of a three-year task which has seen the majority of the resort refurbished.

Tewit said the update was key as 60% of guests were returning clients, and reputation and their experience was important.

In the country this week to give a trade update, Tewit said the Australian market was crucial.

"Australia is one of our largest inbound markets due to their desire for health and wellness retreats," he said.

Networking with a purpose!

LAST night several hundred travel industry people gathered at Sydney's L'Aqua venue on Cockle Bay Wharf for the latest sold-out JITO Connected and Travel Daily networking event.

The packed evening was supported by a range of partners including American Airlines, Travel Counsellors and Trafalgar - and as well as linking up with new and old acquaintances, all the participants were part of "making a difference" with over $2,500 in proceeds from the night going to buy a washing machine and gas cooker for a girls' orphanage in Sri Lanka.

American Airlines was a key supporter, providing two business class return tickets to Los Angeles, which were won by a thrilled Aleisha Kepka from Stay Well Hospitality Group (inset) by posting the best "selfie" with a new friend on the JITO Connected app.

AA is also putting together kits for the girls in the orphanage including pyjamas.
