Bunnik Egypt acquisition

EXCLUSIVE

BUNNIK Tours has continued its longstanding commitment to the Egyptian tourism sector with the purchase of a majority stake in its Cairo-based ground operator.

CEO Dennis Bunnik told TD the business would operate as a joint venture with its management team, and that Bunnik Tours saw the deal as an "investment in the future of Egypt".

Unlike many other operators, Bunnik Tours had unwaveringly maintained its presence in Egypt, continuing to work with and support the team there during the lean years after the 2011 Arab Spring revolution, he said.

That commitment has now paid off, with Bunnik saying "Egypt is back - booking numbers are now above pre-revolution peaks.

"It is the perfect time to realise our dream and officially launch the joint venture," he said.

The official opening of a new office in Cairo last weekend was attended by founder Marion Bunnik and sons and co-owners Dennis (CEO) and Sacha (MD), along with many local hoteliers and Nile cruise operator suppliers.

Bunnik said it was an opportunity to "celebrate old friendships and 14 years of working together showing Australians the best of Egypt".

The event was a double family occasion as Marion and husband Frank celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Attendees at the launch event also included a number of European partners who will be using the Bunnik Egypt ground operations for their clients.

Today's issue of TD is coming to you from the 2018 Very Merry Toy Story Land Christmas Famil, hosted by Disney Destinations.

THE day has finally come for the lucky group of agents to visit the brand new Toy Story Land, which opened in Jun at Disney's Hollywood Studios.

At Toy Story Land the agents will get a chance to meet and snap a selfie with the likes of Woody, Buzz and Slinky.

Later, participants will tuck into a private hosted dinner at Disney's Hollywood Studios and an exclusive viewing of night-time spectacular, outdoor musical, Fantasmic.

To read more about their adventures, see page six.

TV lifts demand for HLO

HELLOWORLD'S first foray into travel television has brought strong initial results, with the group reporting a significant boost in demand from its Helloworld TV series (TD 31 Jul).

At the 2018 Helloworld Frontliners Forum held in Fiji over the weekend, Helloworld Travel Group General Manager – Retail and Commercial, John Constable, told TD the new Helloworld show had "uplifted the demand at Helloworld Travel stores" and allowed "the consumer to resonate with us on Sun afternoon".

"The early results have been phenomenal - Canada and some of the Alaskan cruising following the TV show have seen a significant uplift," Constable said.

The 20-episode series began airing on the Nine Network last month and was one of a number of initiatives that had boosted the brand in the past 18 months.

"Since Jul this year we have had a significant partnership with News Corporation, where we have become a platinum partner for travel and with significant investment by Helloworld we've been able to drive demand to our agents both from cruise, touring, and from an air perspective," Constable said.

Other areas of growth included network numbers across the brand and in the associate network, along with new technology to ensure agents had the tools to drive productivity.

To meet destination demand, Helloworld had launched three new brochures featuring South America, Japan and the Maldives.

"And of course we are delighted that the (Queensland) islands are reopening in the coming year and are expecting very strong demand in the likes of Hayman and Daydream," Constable said.

Pherous doubles down on CTD

CORPORATE Travel Management founder Jamie Pherous has put his money where his mouth is, with an ASX update on Fri confirming he has taken advantage of the recent weakness in the company's share price to boost his stake.

Pherous purchased 115,000 shares in the company, paying an average of $21.14 in on-market trades for a total price of just over $2.4 million.

The acquisition boosted his stake in Corporate Travel Management to 20,600,000 shares worth around $430 million.

Agent eco views mixed

AUSTRALIAN travel agents have given mixed views on the importance of environmental issues in the cruise industry, with a quarter saying sustainability is not important to their clients.

This year's Travel Daily/Cruise Weekly cruise industry survey included new questions on issues of sustainability, which showed only 19% of respondents consider environmental matters to be extremely or very important to their customers.

The biggest portion, representing 39%, say the environment is only moderately important, with 17% rating it as slightly important and 25% saying it is not important at all.

The survey also asked agents about the hot topic of overtourism, drawing a similarly mixed response.

When asked whether the issue of overtourism was an inhibitor to new sales, 45% said no.

About 27% said yes, but the largest portion of respondents, 45%, said they were unsure.

Other aspects of the survey asked agents to rate the added extras most likely to drive sales for a cruise line.

The most effective extra was an on-board credit, named by 79% of respondents, followed by fly free deals (72%), single supplement waivers (67%), beverage credits (62%) and earlybird offers (61%).

Agents also rated cruise lines for their training and development programs, with Princess Cruises considered best, followed by APT, P&O Cruises Australia and Scenic.

In a new question, agents also rated Princess Cruises best for its insightful webinars, followed by APT, Scenic and Crystal Cruises.

U by Uniworld was top for training among river cruise lines.

Melia to take over Rydges Kensington

MELIA Hotels International has announced its third London hotel, with a new management agreement for the property currently operating as Rydges Kensington London.

Effective 01 Dec, the hotel will be managed by Melia Hotels International, with a renovation early next year to see it adapt to Melia brand standards.

The 81-room hotel is about two minutes from Gloucester Road underground station, and complements Melia's other properties in the UK capital, ME London and Melia White House.

Melia has also added a third hotel in Tanzania, with the Melia Arusha to join the Melia Zanzibar and Melia Serengeti Lodge.

The 171-room Melia Arusha is near Kilimanjaro International Airport and will open in Apr 2019 as an "ideal gateway to an African Adventure".

TWO US military pilots have been grounded after their plane traced a giant penis in the sky.

The incident was highlighted by social media users, who posted images of the creative flight path (below) along with comments hailing the precision of the airborne erection.

A US Marines spokesman confirmed that "the T-34C crew being investigated for flying a pattern resembling an obscene image are currently not flying pending the results of an ongoing investigation".

RedBalloon buys Adrenaline

EXPERIENCES specialist RedBalloon today announced the acquisition of rival Adrenaline.com.au, as part of plans to scale domestically as well as expand into international markets.

Both brands will operate as subsidiaries of the Big Red Group (BRG), with spokesperson Naomi Simson (pictured with her co-founder David Anderson) saying the deal feeds into a multi-brand strategy around BRG's IT platform.

"We see momentum and demand building for experiences that serve different purposes for our customers - from gifting to team events, bucket lists, travel and the 'things to do' market," Simson said.

She said BRG worked with about 3,000 supply partners across Australia and New Zealand.

"As experience aggregators the BRG offers its partners another distribution channel, delivering repeat customers, brand reach and world class technology as part of our shared services portfolio," she said.

The Adrenaline and RedBalloon brands will remain separate but work out of the same office in Sydney, with Adrenaline to be led by General Manager Julia Wilson.

Adrenaline is the BRG's first acquisition, with Simson saying the group was also eyeing other local and international brands.

CLIA to refresh awards program

CRUISE Lines International Association (CLIA) Australasia has announced changes to "the CLIAs," its annual awards program which has been running for the last 17 years.

Next year's ceremony is set to take place in Sydney on 23 Feb 2019, with the revamp to see the introduction of additional award categories, a more transparent online voting system and a separate judging panel for entrants from New Zealand.

There will be a new "Cruise Champion" award recognising individual travel consultants who go above and beyond to drive the Australasian cruise sector, along with a Rising Star category for new entrants to the industry.

In addition, the Cruise Agency of the Year Award will separately recognise small single-branch agencies and those with multiple locations or brands.

NSW targets Xi'an

TOURISM operators from across NSW last week promoted their businesses to more than 200 travel trade representatives in the city of Xi'an as part of a Greater China Roadshow mounted by the NSW Government.

The event involved 27 NSW businesses and was aimed at capitalising on the direct flights from Xi'an to Sydney now offered by Hainan Airlines and China Eastern Airlines.

"Not only is this our largest China delegation, it's the first time we have held the Greater China Roadshow in Xi'an," said NSW Minister for Tourism and Major Events Adam Marshall.

"As the capital of Shaanxi Province with a population of more than 12 million people, this is a hugely important growth opportunity for NSW," he said.

The Greater China Roadshow consisted of one-on-one meetings and networking events held between 05 and 09 Nov.

Gong link starts

REGIONAL carrier Fly Corporate has launched its new service between Wollongong and Melbourne's Essendon Fields Airport, reviving a direct link previously operated by failed carrier JetGo (TD 06 Sep).

"This will be the biggest service from Essendon Fields Airport to the third biggest city in NSW," said airport CEO Chris Cowan.

Nine return flights per week will be offered on the route, which is served by 34-passenger Saab 340B Plus aircraft.

Virgin shift at LAX

VIRGIN Australia's check-in location at Los Angeles Int'l Airport has moved from Terminal 2 to Terminal 3 as part of the gateway's current upgrade.

Flights continue to depart from Tom Bradley Int'l Terminal, which is linked to Terminal 3 via a walkway, with a three min walk.

WA Shanghai boost

TOURISM Western Australia has announced the allocation of an additional $1m to the China market for co-operative and tactical campaigns to build awareness of WA in Shanghai.

The new strategy will target the development of direct air routes with the aim of driving business and incentive travel, while Tourism WA will also encourage local operators to become ChinaReady to better serve the Chinese consumer.

Tourism Minister Paul Papalia said visitors to Western Australia had more than doubled since direct flights between Perth and Guangzhou were introduced by China Southern.

"We recognise that there is the potential to grow this market further," Papalia said.

McLachlan brochure

MAT McLachlan Battlefield Tours has released its 2019 touring brochure, packed with 28 new tours including a new "Value Tours" range.

The Value Tours cover more than 20 itineraries in Europe, mostly covering WW2 battlefield sites, with prices for four-day D-Day landings leading in at $668.

Also new to 2019 are Anzac Day tours to significant locations in Asia, the Pacific and Australia such as the six-day Anzac Day at Hellfire Pass in Thailand and five-day Anzac Day in Australia which visits Canberra, Cowra & Temora.

NCL Jewel refurb

NORWEGIAN Cruise Line has confirmed Norwegian Jewel has completed her two-week bow-to-stern refurbishment.

Norwegian Jewel will introduce her refreshed venues, updated spaces, new entertainment and redesigned staterooms down under when she arrives in Sydney on 01 Dec.

She will spend her summer 2018 and autumn 2019 seasons cruising from Sydney, Hong Kong and Singapore, before joining Norwegian Bliss and Norwegian Joy in Alaska for the North American summer.

IT HAS been an action-packed weekend for this merry band of mouseketeers, who have been busy experiencing the best attractions at Magic Kingdom and Disney's Typhoon Lagoon at Walt Disney World Resort.

There have been Disney character meet and greets, thrilling rollercoasters, and a silly season soiree which saw the park completely transformed into a magical winter wonderland.

Speaking to Travel Daily, Flight Centre Strathpine Assistant Team Leader Tara Dickinson (pictured inset) said "everything about Disney's A Very Merry Toy Story Land famil has been magical".

"The highlights for me were the fireworks shows over Cinderella's Castle and meeting with Minnie Mouse and Daisy Duck.

"Even though I have been to Disney World once before, I have learned so much already in a short amount of time.

"From the site inspections to hints & tips around the parks, I will be able to go back to my clients knowing I can make their Disney experiences even more magical."

VA exceeds gender target

VIRGIN Australia has exceeded its target of an equal intake of males and females for its 2018 Pilot Cadetship program, with females representing 56% of the cadets, a 200% increase on the previous program.

The 2018 Pilot Cadetship will run for 54 weeks at Flight Training Adelaide in SA and at the end of their training the cadets will graduate with a Commercial Pilot Licence and will be offered roles as certified First and Second Officers with Virgin Australia.

The airline was last month chosen to launch a new Aviation Centre of Excellence in Tamworth, NSW (TD 31 Oct).

Virgin Australia Group Executive People, Lucinda Gemmell, said the carrier was committed to increasing gender diversity across all areas of its business and was thrilled to have exceeded the gender target it set itself.

"Both the young men and women who have been accepted into the next program are all extremely passionate, talented individuals and we are very much looking forward to welcoming them all into the Virgin Australia family," Gemmell added.

Viva Las Vegas with Excite Holidays!

SYDNEY agents and partners kick off their morning in style.

EXCITE Holidays and Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority recently held two exclusive events in Brisbane and Sydney, bringing the spirit of Las Vegas alive for agents and partners.

Also in attendance were representatives from Caesars Entertainment, Cirque du Soleil, My Ultimate Vegas, Graceland Wedding Chapel, Machine Guns Vegas, MGM Resorts International, Papillion Group, The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas, Tropicana Las Vegas, Wynn Las Vegas & Encore.

In Brisbane, top selling agents were invited to Laruche where they were welcomed with a Cosmopolitan cocktail, while a DJ spun house tunes and Elvis made an appearance to really transport the agents to Las Vegas.

A few days later in Sydney, agents descended upon Bea Restaurant in Barangaroo where they were welcomed with coffee, fresh juices and a make-your-own bloody mary station.

They then indulged in a mouth-watering meal to kick-start their morning in style.

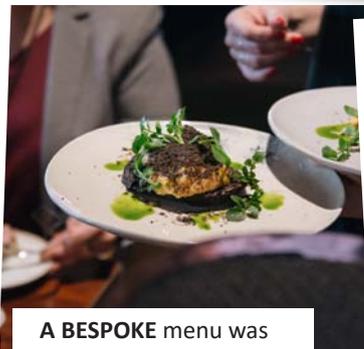

Jessica Luxton from Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority gave an insightful presentation about the latest developments and exciting experiences available in Las Vegas at both events before awarding a few lucky agents with incredible prizes including hotel stays, tours and attractions.

SIOBHAN Bailey & Jade Heath, Create Travel; Brendan Paul as Elvis, Graceland Wedding Chapel; Sue Watts, Excite Holidays; and Mandi Forrester-Jones, Viva Events.

DEBRA Gibb, Why Travel; Sherwin Mercado, Papillon Group; Sebastian Salas, My Ultimate Vegas; and Shelly Hillas, MTA Travel.

A BESPOKE menu was served at Bea Restaurant.

Ryanair 737 grounded in France

FRENCH officials have upped the ante in the country's ongoing dispute with Irish low-cost carrier Ryanair over state subsidies, seizing a Boeing 737 aircraft at Bordeaux Airport.

Passengers had boarded the plane which was just about to take off for London Stansted.

They were forced to disembark and take a later flight, with the French civil aviation authority saying it was "unfortunate that the state had to take such action, which led to the inevitable inconvenience of the 149 passengers on board the immobilised plane".

The dispute dates back to 2008 when the local government paid subsidies to airlines to operate flights from Angouleme airport, which were later deemed illegal by the European Commission.

France appears to have had difficulty in recovering the "incompatible aid" from Ryanair, in response to an EC order requiring the country to "level the playing field".

The aircraft is now flying again after Ryanair reportedly repaid €525,000 in subsidies on Fri.

QF double points

QANTAS this morning kicked off a week-long promotion offering double Qantas Points on eligible QF and EK operated flights.

All passengers in each booking must register for the campaign, and book a Qantas or Emirates-operated flight with a QF flight number from today through until 11.59pm on Fri 16 Nov 2018, for travel between 01 Dec 2018 and 30 Jun 2019.

The bonus Qantas points will be credited to customer accounts up to six weeks after travel, with no limit to the number of eligible bookings that can be made.
