G Adv launches TailorMade

G ADVENTURES has today opened for sale a new range of itineraries called TailorMade, offering custom tours.

The company is in the process of expanding its sales team and assigning dedicated specialists who will work with agents and customers to design the itinerary.

Options will include transportation, accommodation, meals, activities, pace of travel and budget.

Travellers will be able to select a sample itinerary and depart on their own date, amend a sample itinerary, or create a whole new itinerary with the help of their private travel consultant.

The company said the launch was in response to agent feedback, with a survey in Dec 2018 of more than 450 travel agents globally finding 84% of respondents reported an increase in requests for tailor-made travel and private tours.

Bruce Poon Tip, founder, G Adventures, said there was a distinct gap in the market for tailor-made travel solutions in adventure travel, specifically in the affordable and mid-market price ranges.

The 11 launch destinations in 2019 are Botswana, Cambodia, Costa Rica, Peru, Ecuador, India, Laos, South Africa, Thailand, Vietnam and Zimbabwe, with two or three sample itineraries available for each as inspiration for travellers.

See the cover page for more.

Queensbridge falls short

CROWN Resorts has experienced a setback on its proposed One Queensbridge project, with the Victorian Government knocking back a request to extend the commencement date.

The project is a joint venture between Crown and the Schiavello Group and is subject to obtaining financial arrangements that were satisfactory to Crown and Schiavello.

Crown said in a statement "unfortunately these arrangements could not be achieved before the construction commencement date under the planning approval".

Crown said it retained 50% ownership in the land and would consider the next steps for the property in conjunction with Schiavello.

The project was slated to be Australia's tallest building at 325m high and home to a 388-room six-star luxury hotel, a rooftop bar and dining experience and 708 residences.

The tower would be directly connected to Crown Melbourne Integrated Resort, forming the fourth tower in the complex.

Queensbridge received conditional approval from the Victorian Government in 2017, with the proposal including a $100m investment from Schiavello in "significant tourism and public realm amenities" to benefit the Southbank Precinct (TD 09 Feb 2017).

CLIA opposes cruise tax

CRUISE Lines International Association (CLIA) Australasia has warned a proposed government levy affecting the cruise sector would "add an unfair burden to the industry and drive up costs for both operators & passengers".

The planned Biosecurity Imports Levy was originally put forward by the Australian Government to target the sea freight sector, however the proposal has since been reworked to encompass the cruise sector, a move that could affect the cruise industry as soon as Jul.

Joining the chorus of voices from both shipping and business in condemning the government's move, CLIA Australasia Managing Director Joel Katz said "Extending this new tax to the cruise industry has come as a complete surprise and without proper consultation".

"Travellers are already taxed heavily through measures like the $60 Passenger Movement Charge, which is already used to fund passenger-related biosecurity activities," he added.

"Australia's Passenger Movement Charge is one of the most expensive passenger taxes in the world."

Katz also believes the levy could be applied to cruise ships upon each arrival into Australia on a gross tonnage basis, which would disproportionately impact the cruise industry.

"Costs for cruise lines operating in Australia are among the highest in the world and any new charge will further disadvantage our industry at a time when it is facing significant infrastructure constraints," he said.

CLIA has responded by calling upon the Minister for Agriculture and Water Resources, David Littleproud, to rule out any additional levy on cruising and is also seeking the support of the Minister for Trade, Tourism and Investment, Simon Birmingham.

Cruisefusion exp

CRUISE/TOUR wholesaler Cruisefusion has significantly expanded its hotel inventory offering by going live with Hotelbeds' APitude suite.

The move gives agents access to 175,000 hotels and more than 10,000 activities through Cruisefusion's Odysseus live dynamic packaging reservations platform.

"This integration with Hotelbeds' APitude provides agents with access to hotel inventory about three times greater than previous with the continued benefit of viewing live availability," said Cruisefusion General Manager Geoff Hackett.

The reservations portal launched last year (TD 21 Sep) and offers agents the ability to process a cruise, air and hotel booking with live and dynamic pricing in the one platform.

Hackett said the portal had been well received since its debut.

Pakistan restoration

FLIGHTS into Pakistan have been partially restored following political tensions with India over Kashmir (TD 28 Feb), with some airlines and airports announcing a resumption of normal operations.

Emirates revealed it had resumed flights to and from Karachi, Islamabad and Peshawar, while Etihad Airways also confirmed it had "returned to normal operations", upgrading services to larger aircraft where possible to mitigate the effects of previous disruptions.

Lahore airport has partially reopened under a restricted airspace protocol, while some airports in the country remain closed until further notice including hubs in the northern region of Pakistan.

Thai Airways announced it had arranged additional flights to and from Frankfurt in order to speed up the backlog of customers waiting to travel to Europe.

SALES and marketing representatives for select luxury European travel experiences, The Hotel Connection, recently held an event in Sydney at the Studio at Sydney Tower Eye Dining.

The event was part of a national roadshow around Australia the company is conducting in order to help raise the profile of its high-end portfolio with agents.

"We represent niche products within Europe that we found Australians just love," said The Hotel Connection Dir Sarah Whitty. "We represent the 'wow factor' within travel...we come out once a year to do this roadshow and give the agents the flexibility to book how ever they want," Whitty added.

The company's portfolio includes properties and tours in England, France, Croatia, Greece, Italy and Spain, and the Cheval Residences in England and Le Pavillion in France.
