Aurora appoints

AURORA Expeditions yesterday announced the appointment of cruise industry veteran Steve Mclaughlin as its new Director of Sales Asia-Pacific.

He takes over from Dianna Schinella, who has been in the role since 2017 and is moving to a new position outside the travel industry, according to Aurora CEO Monique Ponfoort.

Ponfoort previously worked with Mclaughlin at Ponant, and said she was thrilled that he had returned to his "true passion of expedition cruising to join us".

"He is a true veteran of the trade, and I really look forward to working alongside him as the company continues to grow."

Mclaughlin's 30-year career has also spanned positions at Cruisecco, Orion, Cunard and Oceania.

QF offers NDC offset option

QANTAS is claiming a world first in third party distribution for its carbon offset program, allowing travel agents to offer their clients the ability to "Fly Carbon Neutral" through an extension of the NDC-enabled Qantas Distribution Platform (QDP).

Until now customers wanting to purchase carbon offsets had to do so by ticking a box during a direct flight booking on qantas.com, with QF saying it is "the first airline to offer customers the ability to purchase carbon offsets when booking flights in the indirect channel".

Qantas Executive Manager Sales & Distribution, Igor Kwiatkowski, said "many of our customers have told us how important it is for them to be able to offset their flight, and until now, those who booked through a travel agent weren't able to do so conveniently".

He said the new QDP carbon offset option was part of the airline's sustainability strategy, as well as "delivering on our commitment to better support the industry in selling and servicing their bookings with Qantas".

"This is the first of a range of new types of offers we'll be making available to agents as we progress our NDC program over the coming months, all designed to more closely align the functionality of indirect agent channels with qantas.com," Kwiatkowski added.

The airline said additional carbon offset revenue from the enhancement would see QF support more conservation and environmental projects in Australia and around the world.

Qantas Frequent Flyer and Qantas Business Rewards customers can also earn 10 QF points for every dollar spent offsetting their emissions.

EK Premium Econ

EMIRATES has confirmed that the arrival of a new Airbus A380 into its fleet later this month will also see the unveiling of its long-awaited Premium Economy product offering.

EK continues to take delivery of new aircraft despite the pandemic downturn, with three A380s coming in Dec, one of which will feature the new cabin.

The carrier's President Tim Clark, said the superjumbo remained highly sought after by customers, confirming "we will continue to invest in our world-class A380 product experience".

Kimberley specials

BROOME, Kimberley and Beyond is inviting agents to get their clients to "wander out yonder" in Western Australia, with borders opening this week to NSW, Vic and hopefully SA.

Expedia TAAP maintains tiers

EXPEDIA TAAP has announced the automatic 12-month extension of travel agents' Commission Tier status, as a way of continuing to support the industry through the pandemic.

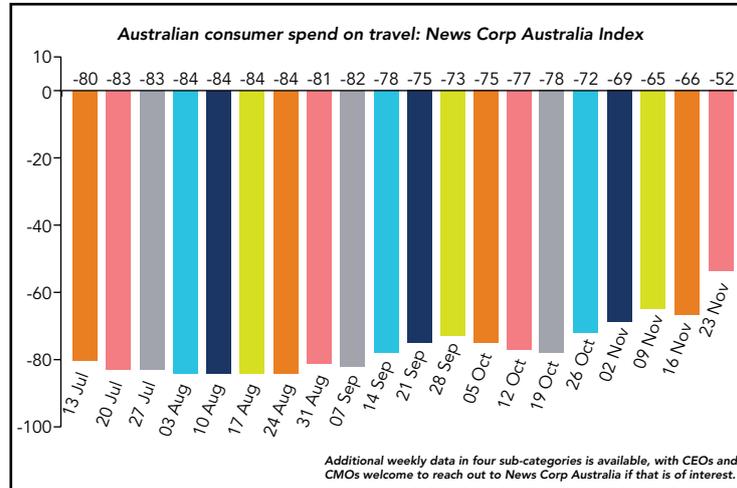

The company will use the Agency Tier each reseller started with in 2020 and extend it until the end of 2021, unless agents have reached the threshold to earn a better one in 2020.

INTERCONTINENTAL Hotels Group overnight announced the appointment of Duriya Farooqui as an independent director.

Farooqui is a former COO for the City of Atlanta, was a Bain & Co principal, and is also on the board of the New York Stock Exchange.

Qld borders drive spend

EXCLUSIVE

THE announcement of the 01 Dec opening of the Queensland borders to residents from NSW and Vic created a significant jump in consumer travel spend, according to the latest News Corp Australia data, with the overall index leaping 14 points - the biggest increase since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Overall spending volume is down about 52% year-on-year, with the increase this week showing "Australian travel is well and truly in recovery," said News Corp Head of Travel, Dwayne Birtles.

He said the immediate consumer behaviour was to book flights post the announcement, but there were also strong jumps in accommodation spending along with an increase of 7% in the travel agent and tour operator sector, indicating future bookings into 2021 as consumers are feeling more confident.

Cruise saw a small increase but is still languishing due to ongoing uncertainty about a restart.

JobMaker regos

THE Federal Government has opened registrations for the new JobMaker Hiring Credit scheme, with eligible employers able to access payments to support new jobs for people aged 16-35.

Companies can access the payment of up to $200 per week for up to 12 months, for each eligible additional employee they hire between 07 Oct 2020 and 06 Oct 2021.

The scheme is being administered by the Australian Taxation Office, with employers encouraged to register now as a first step so they are ready to receive payments when the first quarterly claim period opens in Feb next year.

More details at ato.gov.au.

WA opens up today

WEST Australian Premier Mark McGowan has formally reclassified Vic and NSW as "very low risk" effective from 12.01am this morning, with borders to be adjusted to allow quarantine-free travel into WA from both states.

Travellers must complete a G2G Pass declaration, with all Perth Airport arrivals to undergo health screening and temperature tests.

All visitors will also receive an SMS health check reminder one week into their stay in WA.

Effective this Fri 11 Dec South Australia will also be classified as "very low risk" for WA as long as there are no further community outbreaks in the state.

Today's entry comes from Isabelle Tremblay from Flight Centre Buderim:

2020 was kinda cray-cray
Looking forward to a 2021 holiday.

Wondering who to take for a plane cuddle
Will hopefully be the only hurdle.

I could take Hugh Jackman
Holiday romance with this superman

Wouldn't that be bliss
If he gave me a kiss

I could take my best friend
BFF til the end
Partying, clubbing, dancing
This holiday would be amazing

I could take the kids
On the go, running on my feet

Up at dawn, making memories
Or they could spend time at the club for kiddies

I could take my gorgeous hubby
He is the most caring and funny
For a honeymoon we never had
'Cause your mum slept on the spare bed that night!

Or I could take mum
She would be great fun
A token of appreciation
I probably owe her a lifetime of vacation!

Calls not to test air crew

GOVERNMENTS are being urged by the International Air Transport Association (IATA) to follow global guidelines on the International Civil Aviation Organization's (ICAO) Council Aviation Recovery Task Force's (CART) crew testing guidelines so they can be exempt from the testing applied to travellers.

IATA and the International Federation of Air Line Pilots' Associations (IFALPA) highlighted the significant cost of coronavirus testing for crews, with one airline estimating complying with current requirements for a "single daily flight" would add up to an additional US$950,000 per year.

CART guidelines recommend crews should not be subject to restrictions applicable to other travellers, and health screening methods for crews should be as "non-invasive as possible", including providing proof of a negative test prior to departure.

"These measures not only contravene the recommended ICAO global guidance, they fail to take into account the fact that interactions with the local population are minimised," said IATA's Senior VP Safety & Flight Operations Gilberto Lopez Meyer.

"Crew on layover are often restricted to the hotel...such measures also ignore the fact that airlines already comply with the requirements of their home country health protection and monitoring programs to manage crew health, which typically includes measures to reduce the risk of infection."

"States should acknowledge that crew present a different risk profile than passengers".

However the call may ring hollow in Australia, where the most recent minor outbreak in NSW is believed to have originated from an airline crew member staying in a Sydney hotel.

Rex gets FIRB tick

THE $150 million investment in Regional Express (Rex) by funds manager PAG (TD 22 Sep) has been approved by the Foreign Investment Review Board (FIRB).

The funding is being sought to facilitate the airline's new 737 services between Australia's major capital cities, with the transaction still subject to a number of other approvals including from CASA and Regional Express shareholders.

MEANWHILE the airline has also responded to an Australian Securities Exchange query over its soaring share price, which has jumped almost 50% this week to close at $2.28 yesterday.

The Rex Board attributed the climbing value of the company to the launch and promotion of ticket sales on its new Sydney-Melbourne route (TD 01 Dec), a recognition by investors of Rex's lower cost structure versus its competitors, and positive aviation sentiment as borders open.

A meeting of the minds

TWO independent Australian travel companies have decided to unite and strengthen their respective offerings, with Virtuoso member and luxury travel specialist Trans World Travel joining forces with the recently created Y Travel.

One of three co-founders of Executive Edge Travel, Yvonne Verstandig and her latest business Y Travel will bring a level of creative prowess and experience to Trans World Travel that the company hopes will steel it for the challenges of the future.

"Yvonne needs no introduction to our industry, she...brings to us a wealth of knowledge, experience, passion and creative energy, helping evolve our company for the next challenging and thrilling chapter," enthused Trans World Travel co-founder

Rob Mackie.

Reflecting on the decision to link up with another business, Verstandig said she was excited to start a new journey as the travel sector wakes up from the challenges of the pandemic.

"I strongly believe in the power of travel, be it locally or abroad," she said.

"I know first-hand the enrichment it can bring to our lives, our clients are so eager to explore again, and I cannot wait to introduce them to a more considered purpose to travel.

"I am ready and eager to embark on this new venture with the team and cannot wait to deliver this new vision," Verstandig said.

Whose flag is this?

THIS country has two versions of its flag - this one, used most of the time, and one with the nation's coat of arms in the middle of the blue, used by the government.

The flag became official in 1982, and combined the colours of two of the main provinces of the country - the blue and white of the western islands and the blue and yellow of the eastern islands.

The islands are ruled autonomously, but are technically under the rule of Spain.

Do you know whose flag this is?

Brownie Day

SOME argue that brownies are the best baked good you can enjoy - a combination of cake and cookie, it's a hard one to beat.

The dessert has its own day to celebrate, today 08 Dec.

As with many culinary histories, there are many who claim to have made the first brownie.

Its origins are said to have come from a chef accidentally adding melted chocolate to biscuit dough, or another who made a cake but didn't have enough flour, or a housewife in Maine who didn't add baking powder to her chocolate cake.

All these stories are well and good, but the first brownie supposedly was created by chefs at Palmer House Hotel in Chicago, who invented the treat for the World Columbian Exposition in 1893.

The wife of the owner of the hotel asked the chefs to come up with a dessert for the boxed lunches at the Women's Pavilion - the brief was that it needed to be easier to eat than a piece of pie and smaller than a layer cake, and so the brownie was born.

Celebrate its birth today at morning or afternoon tea!

Globus train trip

GLOBUS has added a new Indian Pacific rail itinerary to its collection of Australian tours, taking travellers from Adelaide to Perth with two nights aboard the iconic train.

Mardi Gras delayed

CARNIVAL Cruise Line has delayed the debut of its newest ship, Mardi Gras, until 24 Apr.

All other departures out of Galveston, Miami and Port Canaveral are canx through Feb, with Carnival due to take delivery of Mardi Gras later this month.

Khiri climate care

ASIAN destination management organisation Khiri Travel is going carbon-neutral from next year, introducing an offsetting program in partnership with ClimateCare.

Khiri will offset carbon emissions generated by all of its Asian offices, as well as staff commuting and business travel.

Once travellers arrive in Southeast Asia, Khiri will offset carbon emissions for trips by charging US$1.50 (A$2.02) per person per day, with the aim of offsetting entire itineraries, including accommodation, activities & transport, while new low emissions slow travel options are also to be introduced.

Funds will go to ClimateCare's carbon reduction projects right across the region.

NT grant program

THE Government of the Northern Territory has announced the recipients of its tourism digital booking grants.

A total of 50 businesses will participate in the Book Now Digital Support Program, and will share in the associated $400,000 grant, designed to create an easier way for consumers to book their holidays online.
